State Democrats Aiming at Liberal Civil Rights Position

Goldwater Hit for His Stand Against Civil Rights Bill

Scranton Says Decision Will Result in Senator's Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's decision to vote against the civil rights bill has triggered a warning from Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton that it means the senator would be unable to defeat President Johnson next November.

But a Southern Democrat, Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, says that if Goldwater, front-runner for the GOP nomination, votes against the measure, he could carry the South against the President.

Their reactions came shortly after Goldwater had told the Senate late Thursday he is "unalterably opposed to discrimination of any sort" but is opposed to the bill because two sections of it "fly in the face of the Constitution."

Criticizes 2 Sections

He said he feels these two sections — the public accommodations and equal employment titles — are a threat to individual freedoms.

Goldwater is known to feel that the reaction to his decision might knock out of his column some of his Republican National Convention delegates.

But the Arizona senator insisted Thursday he had voted as a matter of principle, not of political expediency.

One possible effect: To underscore the differences between Goldwater and Scranton who is his 11th hour challenger for the nomination.

Scranton's Comment

Large Senate Margin Seen For Civil Rights

House Ready to Act Quickly After Receiving Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ending its long historic debate, the Senate is expected to pass the civil rights bill by nightfall today.

The House is poised to start action on it immediately so that it can be in President Johnson's hands by July 4.

Senate leaders said a survey showed about four hours of speeches are left and estimated this would mean final passage by 6 p.m.

All 100 senators are expected to be on hand, including ailing Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. It was predicted that 75 or more would vote for passage.

House Ready to Act

"I'm hoping for 77 or 78," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager.

The leaders obtained 71 votes to impose the debate-limiting cloture last week. But some of the 29 senators who were against cloture have announced they will be in the "aye" column today.

The House scheduled a session today so it could be ready to receive the bill back from the Senate as soon as the vote is taken.

House leaders said they even

Offer of Truce Is Turned Down By Negro Leaders

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) —Negro integration leaders, rejecting an offer of a truce on the heels of renewed racial violence, said they would offer their own truce terms today.

However, the white population, angered by an attempt of Negroes to integrate a plush white motel swimming pool, indicated they might not be willing to listen.

"We will make a counter-proposal," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., after rejecting the special session grand jury presentment Thursday calling for a 30-day truce.

State Sen. Verle Pope, a spokesman for the businessmen's group, said the demonstrations Wednesday night and Thursday indicate a lack of good faith among the integrationists.

"The people of St. Augustine will never yield to stipulations set forth by outside groups," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury sources said Thursday that the Mint has doubled production of Kennedy half dollars in the past few months. By June 30, 90 million of the coins bearing the likeness of the late President will have been minted—the amount originally planned for the entire year.

New Quake at Niigata Brings Added Damage

City Rocked Just As Firemen Start to Control Oil Flames

NIIGATA, Japan (AP)—Another earthquake rocked this northern port city tonight as it struggled with the aftermath of Tuesday's quake—Japan's most violent in 40 years.

Buildings already weakened on Tuesday suffered damage. But there were no immediate reports of new deaths or injuries.

The central, 3rd graf 131-139

The Central Meteorological Agency said the new quake, centered in the Sea of Japan off Niigata, struck the port on the northwest coast with a force of 3 on the Japanese scale, which has a maximum of 7.

Tuesday's disastrous quake which spread death and destruction over 200 miles of Japan's north west coast, was rated at 5.

Still Fighting Fire

The new quake hit as Niigata firemen were bringing under control a raging oil fire, set ablaze by the earlier tremor.

U.S. Air Force planes parachuted another 14 tons of fire fighting chemical foam to Niigata's weary firemen at dusk. A pilot said a block-square storage tank complex on the waterfront was still burning fiercely, shooting flames 300 to 400 feet into the air, as his plane made a pass over the stricken city.

A few minutes before the new quake, Niigata's fire chief said the fire was being contained in the ocean-front refinery area where more than 90 storage tanks went up in flames after Tuesday's quake.

The quake ripped across an 11 - prefecture area, killing a known total of 25, injuring more than 400, and leaving thousands homeless.

North Katanga's Capital Reported In Hands of Reds

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Albertville, capital of North Katanga on the shores of Lake Tanganyika, is believed to have fallen to antigovernment rebels, messages reaching Leopoldville said today.

One airline pilot reported the city's airfield was thick with armed men and truckloads of rebels were reported heading toward the town from the north.

Messages from Albertville qand Elisabethville said the former city's European population of about 200 was in a state of panic. A number of whites escaped from Albertville Thursday night aboard a lake steamer, these messages said.

Radio messages from the city gave a confused picture. It was not known whether there had been any fighting between the rebels and Congolese soldiers.

A U.S. Embassy official said the U.S. consul in Elisabethville, Jonathan Dean, flew to Albertville this morning and was able to land, but later radioed he was unable to leave the airport.

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) —Pfc. Gordon H. Limberg, 26, of rural Glenbeulah, Wis., was killed by lightning Thursday at Camp Ripley, Minn., where he had been assigned for field training with Minnesota's National Guard.

Three other soldiers were burned slightly but returned to their units after first aid treatment.

8 Saved From 100-Foot Deep Tunnel in South Milwaukee

Smoke Endangers Workmen Quarter Mile From Shaft

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An electrical fire in a 100-foot deep sewer tunnel Thursday night cut off eight men who were working under pressure about a quarter of a mile from the shaft. All escaped without serious injury.

All of the men were freed within 40 minutes and seven of them were treated for smoke inhalation at Trinity Hospital in Cudahy and released.

The other worker did not require hospital treatment after the men were helped from the shaft in a thinly populated section of South Milwaukee.

Pressure Delays Exit

One of the men, Leonard Prophet, 40, said, "We got a call from the top saying help was on the way in five or ten minutes. It seemed like 30 minutes before they came. The smoke was getting thicker.

"We were a quarter of a mile back in the tunnel. We left before the firemen brought the masks for the men. The exit of the workers was delayed because they had been working under 18 to 20 pounds of pressure and had to go through decompression on the way out to prevent the bends, the development of bubbles in the blood stream resulting from the sudden lowering of pressure.

Sgt. Hoyle Green of the South Milwaukee Police Department said the fire started in a battery cable and spread to one of the batteries which exploded. The batteries powered earth moving carts in the tunnel.

The fire burned for several hours as firemen battiing the blaze were restricted by the limited oxygen supply in their face masks.

The tunnel is part of the extension of a metropolitan sewer system. Last year, the State Industrial Commission questioned the safety of the project. In September, a commission told Circuit Judge Robert W. Landry the development no longer was a threat to workers or houses in the neighborhood.

The work is being done by the Santucci Construction Co. of Skokie, Ill.

Search Area Near Arctic Circle for Geologists, Flier

YELLOWKNIFE, N. W. T. (AP)—A search for two United States geologists and their Canadian pilot is concentrated in an area around Sawmill Bay on Great Bear Lake, only a few miles south of the Arctic Circle.

Missing since June 9 when they took off in a single-engine, ski-equipped plane are Albert Kunes of Prentice, Wis., and Douglas Torp of Duluth, Minn., both in their mid-20s, and pilot Chuck McAvoy of Yellowknife.

Kunes and Torp are employes of the Roberts Mining Co., of Minnesota. They had taken off from Yellowknife to tour summer exploration bases.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that reports that the missing plane had been sighted by groups of Indians continued to arrive Thursday. Several of the reports told of seeing the plane at Hottah Lake, about 40 miles southeast of Great Bear Lake on June 9, the day the flight began.

$9 Billion Increase Expected to Set Debt Limit at $324 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has another urgent piece of business to take up soon after it disposes of the civil rights bill—legislation to raise the national debt ceiling by $9 billion to $324 billion.

The House passed the legislation 203 to 182 Thursday after a stiff partisan battle. Twenty-eight Democrats crossed over, while no Republican backed the debt limit boost, which would apply through June 30, 1965.

Unless the Senate acts by July 1, the debt limit will drop automatically to $285 billion, well below the actual debt. Prompt action is expected.

If Congress fails to act, the Treasury would be forced to halt all borrowing immediately and probably would have to default on some of its obligations within two weeks.

Pavilion at World Fair Is Dedicated

NEW YORK (AP) — America's Dairyland had its day at the New York World's Fair Thursday when the Wisconsin pavilion was formally dedicated by a party of 40 headed by Lt. Gov. Jack B. Olson.

Olson noted that private investors had paid for the Wisconsin pavilion, toured by about 25,000 persons Thursday, and emphasized that it had not cost the taxpayers a cent.

The official party, which included Alice in Dairyland—Beth Bartosh of Burlington—had lunch at the pavilion restaurant.

The fair president, Robert Moses, presented Olson with two silver medallions at ceremonies in the United States pavilion. One was for the lieutenant governor and the second for Gov. John W. Reynolds, who was unable to attend.

The State of Wisconsin gave Moses an onyx and silver desk set.

Moses reminded that his wife is from Wisconsin and that he had many relatives from the state, including the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

Party Works For Accord On Platform

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic state convention delegates, their sales tax repeal yell muffled, turned today to fashioning an election year platform with emphasis on a liberal civil rights position.

In about a dozen meeting rooms, subcommittees pounded out in open debate the finished drafts of their contributions to the document that will form the base for 1964 campaigning.

Primary attention focused on the party objectives in the area of human rights. And arguments notwithstanding, those in authority predicted the plank finally adopted would be an all-inclusive and far-reaching one.

Assemblyman Norman C. Anderson of Madison, the platform chairman, said such a position has been dictated by Gov. John W. Reynolds. "The governor has a religious feeling about this subject," said Anderson.

Expects Criticism

David Fries of Watertown, who heads the human rights subcommittees has said he expects his group "to come under fire" for its "extremely strong position."

The draft Fries' group has advanced pledges party support to a drive for equal opportunity in education, housing and employment.

"To insure these rights," the proposed plank reads, "we favor legislation to strengthen the equal accommodations law, extending non-discrimination to all business and professional places serving the public, a housing law to assure all citizens equal opportunity to rent or purchase private and public housing and extension of non-discrimination in contracts for state works to include contracts with local units of government."

Oppose General Sales

On state finances, platform drafters have dropped the selective sales tax approach that Reynolds stressed in his successful campaign two years ago. But the party's opposition to a general sales tax is re-

Some Surprises Hinted

Warren Probers to Report by June 30 on Assassination Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hearings ar eover and the findings due within a fortnight, but the Warren commission kept its door ajar today for any belated disclosures on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

If the presidential body headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren meets its timetable, the public will know by June 30 all that the investigative resources of the government could uncover on the Dallas tragedy of last Nov. 22.

500-Page Report

President Johnson will receive a report totaling more than 500 pages, supported by transcripts of testimony which are said to rival in bulk the findings of the Pearl Harbor Commission after World War II.

There may be some surprises, commission sources have hinted. But there is no indication that the seven-month investigation has turned up any disclosures casting serious doubt on the FBI's original basic conclusions.

The FBI's report remains secret still, but it is known to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, the embittered ex-Marine marksman, conceived the slaying and executed it alone. Two days after the assassination, Oswald was shot to death in the Dallas jail by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

It was learned, however, that the commission stands ready to receive any last-minute information offered and may itself recall witnesses if members find any points which need clarifying during the writing of the report.

In addition, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has predicted that investigations will continue "for years to come," even though the life of the Warren commission expires with the filing of its report.

The last of more than 400 witnesses was James J. Rowley, Chief of the U.S. Secret Service. He answered questions for 3½ hours Thursday. On leaving he revealed only that the atmosphere inside was "very pleasant."

Rowley has made no public statement whatsoever on the shooting which ended the life of the young President who personally picked him for his job.

It was believed that the commission, have already quizzed dozens of Rowley's agents and ballistics experts, asked the chief questions which went considerably beyond the adequacy of the precautions taken in Dallas and the behavior of the agents before, during and after the shooting.

May Propose Changes

Warren has indicated it is his view that the commission's assignment includes discretionary power to propose any changes or improvements it considers needed in the procedures for protecting the President and his family.

The key testimony linking Oswald to the crime apparently was that of his Soviet-born widow, Marina, who was questioned for four consecutive days in February through an interpreter, and was called back again last week.

Hilbert High Switches to 9-Week Terms

HILBERT — A change from six-week to nine-week periods for the high school was approved by the school board Monday night.

Earl Anderson, supervising principal, said the reason for the change was to lighten the load of the teachers and administrative staff in compiling grades and issuing of report cards.

It also will give the teachers an opportunity for more teaching days with less time spent in preparation for tests at the six-week interval.

A 186-day 1964 - 65 school year proposed by Supt. Anderson was approved. School will start Aug. 27 and continue through June 3.

New Highway 41 Signing System Will Have First Testing Sunday

BY JIM GREINER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC — "We hope the combination of the option of closing off Highway 110 traffic from entering Highway 41 and the new signing system on Highway 41 at the Butte des Morts bridge will help the jam-up problem at the bridge this Sunday," an official of the Wisconsin State Patrol District 3 Headquarters, Fond du Lac, said this morning.

He also reported that the traffic problem at the bridge last Sunday was not great, compared to several previous Sundays, as motorists drove home from the northern Wisconsin vacation areas.

Little Trouble

"We had some trouble with the bridge opening for boat traffic during the rush hours," the official said, "but for the most part we had little trouble. And the jam-ups we did have were cleared up in about 15 or 20 minutes."

The peak period last week was about 6 p.m., when traffic was backed up north on 41 about three-quarters of a mile. This was cleared in about 15 minutes. Highway 110 traffic was closed off from entering 41 at the bridge for only about 15 or 20 minutes during the peak rush period at 6 p.m.

The state highway commission recently ordered the installation of a new signing system leading to both the North and south approaches of the bridge, which State Patrol officials hope will help the traffic Sundays to merge more smoothly coming onto the bridge.

New Signs

The state patrol will be watching the traffic flow very closely this weekend to see how the new signing system works in alleviating the traffic problem at the bridge.

"We hope that the new signs will put an end to the jockeying for position which is going on presently at the north end of the bridge," a state patrol official said.

He added that the State Patol Sunday will have several men in the Elkhart Lake area for the annual sports car race event there.

Also, the State Patrol is ready to move into the Elkhart Lake area Saturday night if they are called in by the local law enforcement agencies This Saturday is the night during which, in the past several years, minor riots have broken out.

Entertainment is being provided this year by Elkhart Lake area persons in an attempt to cut down on the problem of gangs and brawls.

Theater Group Wants To Rent School Building

Appleton's Attic Theatre, Inc., is interested in renting and possibly later buying the Triangle School building from the city.

The request by officials of the theater group was sent this week to Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who has referred it to the city council.

The board of education intends to turn the Triangle School over to the city and the building then will be under jurisdiction of the board of public works.

New Programs

"As a non-profit organization which has made a significant contribution to the community, the Attic Theatre, Inc. requests that it be given the opportunity to rent the school building and grounds for two years at a nominal fee with an option to purchase ," officials wrote.

Attic Theatre eventually may be unable to use facilities at Lawrence College as they have been in recent years. They would like use of the school building at State 76 and U. S. 10, to initiate new programs and classes in acting and production techniques. They also would present some productions at the school during the winter months.

"We have examined the Triangle School building and find it can readily be adapted for these activities and serve as a home for the group," officials added.

Last summer, Attic Theater produced five plays at the college Drama Music-Drama Center, attended by 10,291 persons

It has been presenting plays for the past 15 years.

St. Elmo Fires Cause UFO Scare for Twin City People

MENASHA — Several dozen unidentified flying objects reported in the Twin Cities Thursday night were found this morning to be a phenomenon known as St. Elmo's Fire, patches of dust in the air which becomes phosphorus in nature and glows from static electricity.

Close to 20 persons are reported to have seen the phenomenon. Police in Neenah and Menasha received no reports, however.

The UFOs appeared to viewers as silvery incandescent globs, described by one source as looking like "a bunch of flying saucers."

Bob Petersen of Radio WNAM, who witnessed the flight of the UFOs, said as many as 19 of them passed at one time. He described the objects as looking like satellites or "sputniks."

U.S. Army and Air Force officials at Wisconsin stations said the phenomenon was caused by charged particles of dust which glow and move with the wind while clinging together in an electrical field.

Five Charged In Youth's Auto Death

Bar Operator, Four Youths Named in Brown County

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Four youths and the operator of a Brown County Town of Lawrence beer bar were named in warrants Thursday as the result of a Sunday morning traffic accident which took the life of a rural Kaukauna youth.

Charged with selling beer to "an unemancipated minor" was Joseph Bowers, operator of the Bow-Wow Club.

Charged with illegal possession and consumption of beer were Ronald G. Giese, 19, Greenleaf; Darrell G. Tetzloff, 19, De Pere; John D. Geurts, 19, route 2, Kaukauna, and Gerald J. Nytes, 19, route 3, Kaukauna.

False Information

Giese and Tetzloff, who were riding in the car which crashed, taking the life of Ronald Lamers, 19, route 2, Kaukauna, also were charged with obstructing a police officer by giving false information. Nytes also was charged with speeding.

According to authorities, a number of youths chipped in to purchase a half barrel of beer from Bowers when the Bow-Wow Club closed at 1 a.m. Sunday. The barrel was tapped and set up outside the club, where at least 10 persons continued to drink.

The barrel later was placed in the back seat of Lamers' car to be transported to Tetzloff's farm home where the beer party was to have continued, according to statements obtained from the youths.

High Speeds

Lamers, Geise and Tetzloff drove off in one car, with Geurts and Nytes following. Police said both cars were traveling at speeds up to 100 miles an hour. Lamers lost control of his car on Brown County Trunk ZZ near Wrightstown. It rolled down an embankment, coming to rest near the edge of the Fox River. Lamers was pinned beneath the car and died after the accident.

Giese and Tetzloff removed the barrel of beer from the wrecked car and threw it into the river, according to signed statements from the youths.

Nytes had passed Lamers before the accident and waited for the other car at the Tetzloff farm for some time. When they failed to appear, he drove back and came upon the accident just as county police arrived.

Warren said those charged under the new beer control statute could fave fines up to $500 or 30 days in jail, or both.

Financing Hard For Small Mill

Bergstrom Executive Says Cash Problems Can Slow Progress

Special to The Post-Crescent

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Financing frequently is a difficult problem for small paper mills, Arthur Hedlund, vice president and treasurer of Bergstrom Paper Co., Neenah, said here today

Hedlund was part of a panel addressing 24 state college and university teachers studying Wisconsin's paper industry.

"An immense cash outlay—sometimes several million dollars—is involved," he said. "It is not possible to install an additional paper machine and related equipment gradually, as needed. It has to be done all at once.

Hike Capacity

"For a smaller firm, adding just one machine may more than double productive capacity. And running only part time will not produce the profit necessary to pay interest or make payments on borrowed funds.

"In addition, the cost of borrowing money generally is higher for a smaller firm. On equity capital the stock is not well known and frequently is not easily disposed of. On funded debt, the risk is more concentrated than in the large company with several locations and product lines.

"However, with an aggressive policy and s willingness to 'stick the neck out,' the small company can and does prosper."

Badger Boys' State

New London Youth on Mock Supreme Court

RIPON—Richard Finger of New London was the lone Fox Valley area survivor in balloting for state offices Thursday at the Badger Boys State convention on the Ripon College campus. Finger was elected associate justice of the supreme court.

In the main election of the day, David Marth of Wausau was elected governor, defeating Thomas Fleik of La Crosse, 597 to 331.

Marth, the American Legion's national champion orator, led the Federalist ticket, which won four of the six offices.

The two Nationalists to win were twins Thomas and Richard De Mark of Racine who were selected as lieutenant governor and treasurer, respectively.

James Birnbaum of La Crosse was elected secretary of state. Charles Hastings, also of La Crosse, was named attorney general, and John Sabaka of River Falls won the superintendent of public instruction post.

The 125 piece Badger Boys State Band led delegates in a parade through Ripon Thursday night. Joining in the parade was Gov. John W. Reynolds and Barbara Bjoraker of Monona who was elected governor of Badger Girls State at Madison Wednesday.

At a post-parade assembly, the Governor told the delegates that partisan politics was the exercise that keeps a democracy healthy.

"Without the political process that you are learing so much about this week, government would not be as responsive to the people. In order to keep government responsive, we need vigorous political activity that Wisconsin is noted for."

Reynolds said "It keeps governmental leaders in touch with the desires of the people and it keeps the people in touch with the problems of government."

Preliminary Miss Wisconsin Trophies Given

First Swim Suit, Talent Competition Conducted Thursday

OSHKOSH—Eighteen - year-old Angela Gina Baldi, Miss North Shore, and twenty-year-old Joan Fillar, Miss Milwaukee, walked off with preliminary swim suit and talent competition trophies Thursday evening in the Miss Wisconsin pageant at Oshkosh High School-Civic Auditorium.

Miss North Shore was a member of the Allegro Group that competed in the evening gown and swim suit contests, while Miss Milwaukee was a part of the Andante Group which presented talent numbers for the first of the three pageant productions.

The 5-6, 118 - pound Miss Milwaukee combined lyrical ballet and character dancing in her presentation of the "Bonnie Jean Ballet" from "Brigadoon." She danced to a variety of tempos.

Miss North Shore, 5-2, 102 pounds, will give her talent number in tonight's show. She will play a piano solo entitled "Premiere Ballade." Miss Milwaukee will compete in the swim suit and evening gown events tonight.

Almost 3 Hours

The first night's festivities, before a near-capacity crowd, ran close to three hours. Master of ceremonies was Bernie Wayne, composer of such song hits as "Blue Velvet," "Laughing on the Outside, Crying on the Inside," "Little Red. Rented Rowboat" and "There She is, Miss America." Wayne sang a number of his songs accompanied by the lovely court of honor; the Misses Sylvia Frees, Joan Peterson, Sue Furger and Mary Ellen Forcier. All four girls are former competitors in the Miss Wisconsin pageant.

Special guest of honor, who arrived just 15 minutes before the pageant got underway, Miss Minnesota of 1964, Barbara Haselburg, performed the three Hawaiian dances she presented in the Minnesota competition. The talented lass was a loser the first time she entered her state pageant, but she came back to win the crown.

Other participants in the opening show were the Miss Wisconsin usherettes, the Oshkosh High School pep band and a six-year-old blonde charmer named Kathy Busha, who worked with Wayne in the number "You're a Very Special Girl."

In tonight's production, which begins at 8 p.m., the Misses Appleton, Bayland, Kenosha, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Omro, Portage, Racine, Ripon, Two Rivers, Waukesha and Wausau will compete in the evening gown and swim suit events. Taking part in the talent competition will be Miss Beloit, Miss Eau Claire, Miss Fond Du Lac, Miss Hudson, Miss Madison, Miss Marinette, Miss North Shore, Miss Oak Creek, Miss Oshkosh, Miss Park Falls, Miss Rhinelander and Miss Sheboygan.

Preliminary winners again will be chosen tonight and 10 semi-finalists will be named shortly after the start of Saturday night's show.

The 24 contestants were interviewed by the judges Thursday. Saturday morning they will ride in the Miss Wisconsin parade, which starts at 10 a.m.

Correction

KAUKAUNA — In Tuesday's paper it was stated an 8-year-old boy suffered bruises when the bicycle he was riding struck the rear door of a car operated by Mrs. Ray Van Asten. The car was being operated by Mrs. Cyrus Van Asten, 308 E. Eighth St., Kaukauna. The Post-Crescent regrets the error.

Computerized Papermaking Is Predicted

Scout Executive Says Competition Will Force Change

Special to The Post-Crescent

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Competition for better products will force creation of a computerized papermaking process, D. J. Dughie, manager of Wisconsin operations for Scott Paper Co., predicted today.

Dughie addressed a group of 24 state college and university teachers taking part in study of Wisconsin's paper industry. Scott has mills in Marinette and Oconto Falls.

"Whether we are able to meet the future demands of customers, and the dictates of competition from other products and other areas of the world, will be largely dependent upon our ability to build and apply our manufacturing factors, variables and formulas into a scientific process computer system which will define, monitor and continuously adjust the setting of a paper machine to effect maximum production." Dughie said.

"Paper machine shutdowns, start-ups and multiple grade changes are examples of sequence control possibilities with unlimited benefits to the quality, cost and profit picture. The machine which swings from one grade to another is a case in point.

"Under normal conditions, it requires about 45 minutes to change from one grade to another. If, for example, the insertion of a card into a computer system could instantaneously monitor and adjust the settings of a paper machine to establish running speed, weight and grade changes, a saving of an estimated $400 per change could be realized. Multiply this by five changes per day and you've saved $2000 That's $14,000 per week; $56,000 a month; and a conceivable saving of well over a half million dollars annually.

"Because paper is plentiful in supply, people have come to expect more and better products at the lowest possible prices. And at the same time the industry is being prssed by these competitive pressures from within, it is being equally pushed from without. Other materials, such as plastics, are offering stiff competition; world - wide common markets are hungry for a share of our markets—and the industry is selling too much of its product for too little profit."

Circuit Court Awards Seymour Youth $2,650 For Dairy Accident

A Circuit Court jury Wednesday awarded damages of $2,650 to a 12-year-old Seymour youth injured in a conveyor belt accident five years ago at a Badger Consolidated dairy distribution building in Seymour.

The youth, Stephan Metcalf, and his father had sought damages up to $35,000 from the Shawano-based dairy firm.

The jury ruled that the dairy firm was 30 per cent negligent, and the youth, who was playing on the conveyor belt with friends Sept. 18, 1959, was 70 per cent negligent.

Frank Metcalf, the boy's father, charged that the dairy firm was negligent in not keeping small children away from the building and not providing safeguards for the open conveyor rollers Stephan had tripped on a power driven roller and his foot became stuck. He received extensive injuries to his foot and leg.

The dairy firm denied negligence on grounds the youth and his companions were trespassing.

Squall Line Goes Astray, Misses Valley

Wet pavements and wind damage didn't materialize as expected early today because a squall line headed for the Fox Valley didn't follow its forecasted path.

A U. S. Weather Bureau official at Green Bay, said the squall line, with heavy rain and strong winds, split into two parts. One part went north of the valley beginning at Wausau; the other headed toward the Madison area.

The squall line was reported at 10 p.m. Thursday in the eastern part of the state traveling toward the Fox Valley at about 20 miles an hour. The forecast then was rain would hit the valley between 11 p.m. and 1 a.m. today.

The weekend's forecast now is for partly cloudy skies and lower humidity. A cool front described by the weather bureau as weak moved through the state, but temperatures continued almost as high as those reported Thursday.

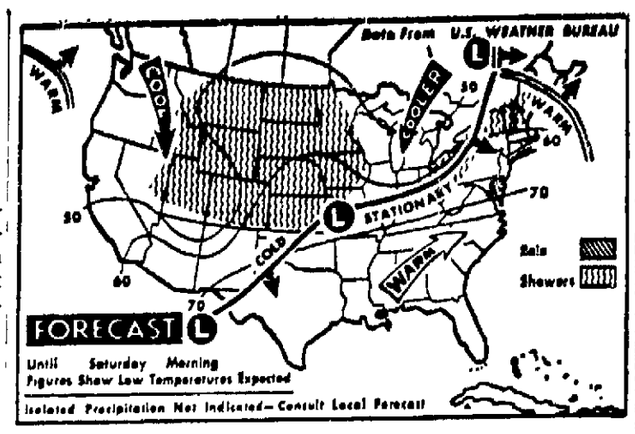

Thunderstorms in the squall line entered the western part of the state Thursday but dissipated before reaching the Lake Michigan area.

Cheese praoduction in the week ending June 11 declined one per cent for both the nation and Wisconsin. Output was estimated at 31.1 million pounds.

Reasoning of Voter Called Fantasy of Dreams, Hates

Operation of Government On Edge of Consciousness

BY JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Sometime on Nov. 3, the American voter will step into a private enclosure and cast his ballot.

Barbour

His political reasoning — his expectations, his hates, his dreams and his frustrations — is melted down into that one act.

It has been called "a helluva way to run a country," but it works.

Looking at the American voter under a microscope, he becomes a boiling brew of fact, superstition, prejudgement and fantasy. But standing back and looking at the whole man, the total electorate, he becomes the marvel of the age.

Analysts at the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research have been compiling their picture of why the American votes since 1948—with pre- and post - election interviews. They have also stood back to look at the whole man.

Outer Limits

Politics — essentially the running of the government — appears to be only on the edge of his consciousness, the outer limits of his world, a low mark on the priority list of personal affairs.

Over half of the voters—the interviewers found — live their lives without becoming involved in party politics to any great extent.

There are some who will decry this—shame them for their ignorance and disinterest, said Prof. Angus Campbell, who heads the SRC

In a sense, these voters have abdicated their responsibility—but in another sense they have not.

Public Affairs

In an earlier, simpler day, everybody could be an expert in public affairs, Campbell said. But today politics has become complex and has more competition with other arenas of life.

You can't be informed about anything without cost. As public affairs have become more complicated — probing space, nuclear energy, Medicare—the cost goes up.

Finally when so many things go on that the voter can't understand, he is forced to delegate responsibilities.

And at times, it becomes quite difficult to see the voter's mind. On Medicare, for example. "I doubt very much if 10 per cent of the voters have an active interest in it," Campbell said. "Yet if you ask them, they will say, 'Yes.'"

For many voters the picture is the instinctive one.

Foreign Events

"By and large, the thing that people do react to is some sense that things are not going well—that the economy is going badly, or that foreign events are going badly, or that there is corruption or dishonesty in government," Campbell said.

In fact the voter seems to have a stockholder-management idea of the whole thing. If the management seems to be doing its job honestly, if things are going well, the voter is apparently satisfied and votes to keep the management in, or abstains from voting.

If things are going badly, he votes the old management out.

Extensive Interviews

But the extensive interviews with the voters shows this is not the case. The debate may favor the image of one candidate over another, however. Many people cited the 1960 debates as improving the Kennedy image, for instance.

Whatever the issues were, the debates for most Americans seemed to be a clash of personalities. For some, they were even less than that.

Said one strong Democrat for Kennedy: "I just watched them for a little while. I don't even know what they were talking about. I really didn't listen very much I'm sorry. I suppose I should—but I just don't."

Debate Issues

And one man — embarrassed apparently after admitting to the interviewer how little he knew of the political picture—said, "If I had known you were coming, I'd have studied up."

And so it goes. From Washington, D.C., the politican sallies forth to debate issues, to argue philosophies, to convince and explain.

But to the American voter the deciding questions are his own political convictions or lack of convictions, his sense of the nation's course at the moment—and the personalities of the men on the ballot.

In times of calm, the voter buoys up the ship of state on the placid sea of his own indifference and apathy. But in times of trouble, the sea rises up—becomes a tide of indignation and frustration, and the politician learns who is master of the ship.

High Military Rank Given Priority for Vacation Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senior military rank is about to enjoy another privilege—an advantage over enlisted men and lower rank officers in getting on waiting lists for free vacation flights aboard military transport planes overseas.

This change in the "space available" system will go into effect on July 1. Hitherto, all service people—regardless of rank—have been treated on a first-come, first-served basis.

Generals, admirals, colonels and Navy captains will be able to mail in their applications as much as 30 days in advance, naming a specific departure date and destination.

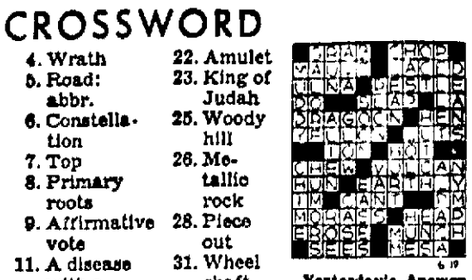

Enlisted men and lower ranking officers must be physically present to have their names placed on a space available list.

Reynolds Urges Means to Let Everyone Vote

MADISON (AP)— Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds said Wednesday ways must be devised to "guarantee that every citizen who wants to vote can do so without unreasonable and unnecessary obstacles."

He called for the guarantees in a statement at the first meeting of a 25-member commission on voting participation he appointed last week.

He said that 73.4 per cent of Wisconsin's eligible voters balloted in the 1960 election, but that 15 states had a higher percentage of participation with Idaho leading with 80.7 per cent.

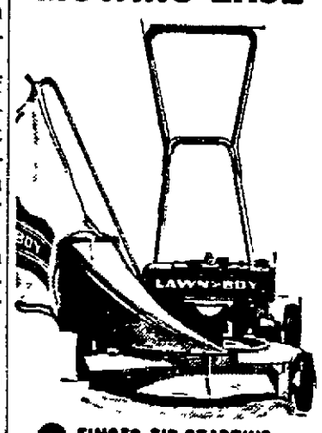

"There was no good reason why we should lag so far behind Idaho, nor behind 14 other states," Reynolds said.

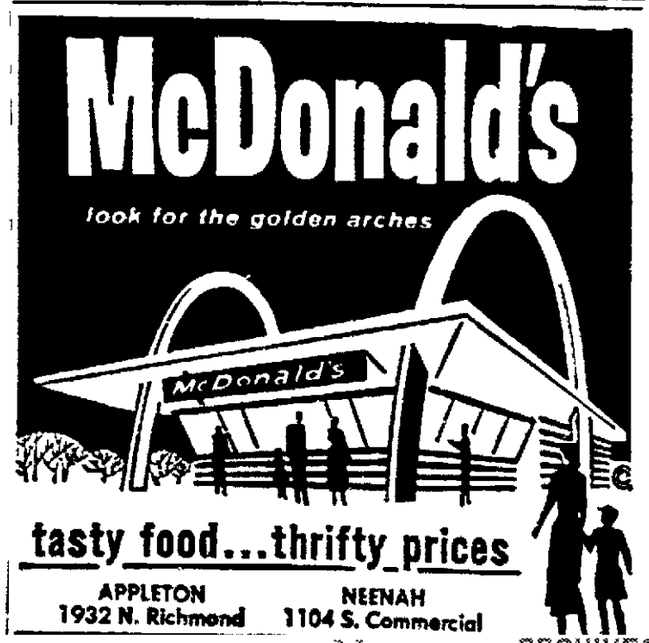

Madison Teacher Given Claim to Back Wages

MADISON (AP)—A Madison high school teacher who served six years in the Air Force is entitled to the pay increases that would have been his had he remained on the job, the State Industrial Commission held Wednesday.

The ruling gives Ralph Gibson, a social studies instructor, claim to $9,000 in back pay.

Gibson, a reserve officer, was called into active service in 1952. He was released in 1958 and was paid $6,190 a year when he returned to teaching while those who had been at the same pay scale when Gibson left received $7,690.

Foxes Open Stand At Goodland Field

Lose Pair Of Decisions To Dubuque

DUBUQUE, Ia. — The Fox Cities Foxes hopes for a first-half championship in the Midwest League received a severe setback here Thursday night when Dubuque swept both ends of a twin bill, 7-2 and 9-6.

The runnerup Foxes return home tonight to open a 6-game stand which will extend over five days. Tonight, Cedar Rapids will invade Goodland Field, and all children and students will be admitted free of charge.

Tim Sommer had his string of victories brought to a halt in the first game last night as he suffered his first mound loss after eight straight wins.

Held To 3 Hits

Bill Cardwell of Dubuque held the Foxes to three hits, all of which came in the fourth inning when the Foxes scored their two runs.

Sommer was touched for four runs in the third and two more in the fourth before giving way to Jerry Glass. The big third inning included a 2-run triple by Frank Baker and Mike Pavich had a 2-run homer in the fourth for Dubuque.

The Foxes' runs in the fourth came when Dave May and Fred Rico slammed back-to-back doubles, Steve Huntz singled in the infield and Stan Walters hit a sacrifice fly.

The Foxes came back to tie the second game at 6-all in the top of the sixth but Dubuque rallied for three runs in its half of the frame to sew up the decision.

Willie Brown Signs Contract With Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams signed halfback Willie Brown Thursday as their third-round draft choice in the National Football League.

Brown, a star at the university of Southern California, will be used at end or flanker back, Ram Coach Harland Svare said.

Hoyt Wilhelm Stars in Relief; A's Edge Tigers

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rabbit ball and the flutterball have lifted the Chicago White Sox back into first place in the American League.

The lively rabbit ball was lofted out of Baltimore's huge Municipal Stadium Thursday night by two of Chicago's bunt-and-run specialists — Mike Hershberger and Al Weis—and provided the only runs Thursday night in a 2-0 victory over the Orioles.

The deadly flutterball was lofted up to home plate by knuckleball specialist Hoyt Wilhelm, who probably has the most deceptive pitch and record in the majors.

Lowers ERA to 2.11

Wilhelm came on in relief of Frank Kreutzer for the White Sox in the seventh inning, allowed only one hit and lowered his earned run average to 2.11. That, oddly, goes with an 0-4 record. The 40-year-old right-hander, however, has made 28 appearances and been in 17 winning games.

He has been pressed into action in exactly half of the White Sox' games and at that clip would wind up floating his knuckler up to home plate in 81 games. The league record of 71 was set last year by Stu Miller of the Orioles.

Baltimore starter Dave McNally gave up only four hits in seven innings, but Hershberger and Weis proved too much for him. Hershberger hit his first homer of the season in the fourth inning and Weis connected for his second in the sixth.

That was more than enough as the White Sox shoved the Orioles into second place, seven percentage points behind, while the New York Yankees closed to within one-half game of the top by downing Boston 6-3. In the only other AL game scheduled, Kansas City edged Detroit 3-2.

Sheldon Winner

Elston Howard and Tom Tresh each drove in two runs for the Yankees while Rollie Sheldon went all the way for his first victory. Howard slammed a two-run triple off loser Jack

Packers Boast Speed In Rookie Flanker Back

Odell Barry Placed Second to Bob Hayes On Many Occasions

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers may not own the world's fastest human, presently identified as one Robert Hayes, but they have one of his closest pursuers in their ranks.

This swift citizen, who twice has run against the jet-like Hayes in major competition, is Odell Barry, a free agent flanker and defensive halfback from Findlay (Ohio) College who has been clocked at a blistering 9.2 in the 100-yard dash.

Barry, one of 17 yearlings who Thursday concluded a four-day "quickie course" under the exacting tutelage of Vince Lombardi and his aides, volunteered, however, that the time did not receive official recognition.

"I did it in a triangular meet at Hillsdale College — Ferris was the other school—but there was no wind meter that day, so it couldn't be recognized."

For the record, that whirlwind performance was just one-tenth of a second off the accepted world record, established by Hayes.

Odell, who said he has been caught at 9.4 "several times" under "official" conditions, revealed "once I took second to Hayes in a preliminary heat of a meet.

How much did he lose by? "It was about two yards, something like that," the muscular young Negro, a native of Toledo, recalled.

This is not his only claim to fame, it develops. "I took second to Ed Roberts from North Carolina State in the 100-yard dash in the Penn relays the last two years. He's been taking second to Hayes most of the time."

Barry, who didn't begin taking track seriously until his senior year in high school, also has tied the world record in the 220-yard dash on a straightaway, 20 seconds flat.

"It was wind-aided though," Odell confessed with a smile. "The wind that day was 9-point-something miles per hour, and it can only be 4-something to be recognized as a record.

The 5-9 and one-half, 180-pound speedball has one other statistic to his credit that attracted Packer birddogs. He scored 18 touchdowns, second highest total in the nation, last season.

Two of the fledglings took the long way home. . .quarterback Dennis Claridge, late of Nebraska, and fullback-lineback Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian, planed to Buffalo where they will appear in the first football game of the 1964 "season", the All-American Bowl, next week . . .Crutcher found the indoctrination sessions "very helpful. It gives you some idea of what to expect. It's simpler than I expected — it's new and everything, but I think once you get the hang of it, it will be simple".

Palmer Shoots 68, Leads U. S. Open By Two Strokes

Bill Collins Second With 70; Jack Nicklaus Cards a 72

BY JIM BECKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arnold Palmer has 198 holes to go on the Grand Slam of golf.

That works out to 54 more holes of the U.S. Open here—18 today and 36 on Saturday—and 72 holes each at the British Open and the PGA. Palmer won the first leg, the Masters, in April.

The British Open is at St. Andrews next month. Palmer might just walk over there on the water. Hardly anyone who watched him trample the brooding, brutal Congressional Country Club course here Thursday would expect Palmer to sink if he undertook the journey.

Palmer cut a two-under par 68 out of Congressional — the only player in the field of 150 of the world's best golfers to break par in the opening round.

Collins Matches Par

Only one golfer, obscure pro Bill Collins of Baltimore, matched par 70 over the 7,053-yard course, longest ever used for the Open.

All the others were over, including such as:

Defending champion Julius Boros, who had 77, including two double bogey sixes on the back nine.

Champagne Tony Lema, who came to the Open with the hot hand off two straight tour victories, and faded to a 71 after a fine 33 on the front nine.

Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio golden bear and co-favorite with Palmer, who bogied the last three holes for a 72.

Old Sam Snead, at 52 trying for the 24th consecutive time to capture the one big title that has always evaded him, who had a 77 that included four putts from 15 feet on one green.

So widespread was the toll extracted by the course that only 46—less than one-third of the field—broke 75.

And 31 were 80 or above, more than one-fifth of the field.

After today the field will be cut to teh low 50 scores and ties—and the way things are going they may have to ask for volunteers.

Johnny Pott, Billy Casper, amateur Billy Campbell and little known club pro Joe Zakarian of Modesto, Calif., joined Lema at 71.

Among the group at 72 was Bob Charles, the left-handed British open champion from New Zealand, who must have contemplated switching rather than fighting when he played the first six holes in 5-3-3-5-5-5—five over par.

32 on Back

But Charles stuck to the left side, and had a 32 on the back nine, the best score for that shattering stretch.

Palmer, stalking the fairways like an angry panther and luring the entranced legions of Arnie's Army in his wake, started off as if he were really human, too.

He missed the fairway with his driver on every hole until the eighth, and collected his only bogey on the third hole when his drive caught the rough and his second to the green ran over.

"I got away with some bad driving for seven holes," Palmer said. "Then I got it under control.

"And then I made that nice putt on the 12th hole—that's the par 3 where I hit the ball in the trap and pitched out about six feet away. The putt was downhill and when I made it I really felt better.

"I putted very well all the way. I only had 27 putts, and that's the first round under 30 putts for me all year."

Palmer enters the last three rounds of the Open with a mild jinx to battle—the fact that only

Giants Drop 7-6 Verdict to Cards

Phillies Raise National League Lead With 6-3 Win Over Chicago

BY HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the ninth inning and your team is down by a run with two men on. Who do you want as your hitter?

How about Willie Mays? Well, Alvin Dark had him Thursday night, but he'd have been better off with Julian Javier.

The Giants were trailing the Cardinals in just that situation with Willie at the plate in Thursday's 7-6 St. Louis victory. Mays had slammed his 20th homer and two singles earlier but against Ron Taylor in the ninth, he struck out.

Javier, the Cardinal second baseman, did more damage than Mays, cracking a homer, double and single and driving in five of the Cardinal runs. It was a single-game St. Louis RBI high for the season.

The Cardinals, hard-pressed for runs during their recent road trip, battered Giant ace Juan Marichal for 11 hits and all their runs in the five innings he worked. It was Marichal's third loss in 11 decisions.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh belted New York 10-0 and the front-running Philadelphia Phillies dropped Chicago 6-3.

Ray Sadecki beat the Giants for the second straight time but needed late-inning help from Roger Craig, Mike Cuellar and Taylor. The loss dropped San Francisco a game back of Philadelphia.

Cater, Callison Homer

The Phillies got two-run homers from Danny Cater and Johnny Callison as Chris Short won his fifth. Cater's first major league homer followed Richie Allen's infield single in the second and Callison's seventh of the season came with Cookie Rojas aboard an inning later.

Ron Santo belted two homers for the Cubs who lost their first series since May 21.

Vern Law won his fourth game in his last five decisions with a strong three-hitter against the Mets. He got all the runs he needed in the first three

Braves Open Home Stand Against Colts

Fischer, Farrell Duel in Lid-Lifter At County Stadium

MILWAUKEE (AP) — There still is a cluster of three teams holding down fifth place in the National League, and even though the cast of characters has been shuffled, the Milwaukee Braves are still in there.

The Braves, who were idle Thursday, open a long home stand tonight by entertaining the Houston Colts, who are in ninth place but only three games behind the fifth-place trio.

As the Braves rested, the Chicago Cubs were defeated and knocked out of their share of fifth place However, they were replaced by the St. Louis Cardinals, who pulled into a tie with the Braves and the Los Angeles Dodgers. The three are six games behind league-leading Philadelphia.

In tonight's game, the Braves will encounter Dick Farrell, the majors' top pitcher with an almost unbelievable record of 10 and 1. Hank Fischer, 5 and 4, will start for the Braves.

And while the Braves waited, Manager Bobby Bragan was just a foot away from making a decision about who would be at first base.

He said earlier in the week that Joe Torre's days of switching between first and home were over, and that the young slugger was going to be a catcher only.

One of three listed for duty at first was Ed Bailey, also a catcher, but he banged up a foot in an exhibition game last week and his status wasn't completely certain.

"I had been thinking of trying Bailey at first," said Bragan, "because his injured foot hasn't healed 100 per cent. So if the injury hasn't come around all the way, I might play him there because that would be less strain than behind the plate.

"But if Bailey is 100 per cent, I'll put Torre back on first and Bailey behind the plate — at least through the Houston series.

"A lot depends on Bailey, If he can get back in there and swing that big bat, we'll keep him as our catcher and Torre at first."

Firm to Handle Appearances of NFL Players

CLEVELAND (AP) — Formation of the Football Corporation of America, to arrange personal appearances, endorsements and related activities for member National Football League players, was announced Thursday.

Preston Carpenter of the Pittsburgh Steelers, an eight-year NFL veteran and president of the firm, made the announcement.

Carpenter said the company will be 'of service to as many players as possible. We are not in business to produce additional income solely for the higher salaried stars.'

WEYAUWEGA —The Weyauwega-Fremont Legion baseball team posted its third straight win of the season by defeating Appleton East, 5-2 Thursday night here.

The loss was the first for the Appleton squad against one victory.

Jack Kapitzke, of W-F, limited the East team to five hits and recorded 17 strikeouts. His mates backed him up with good fielding as only one error was committed while Appleton had trouble in the field and bobbled the ball seven times

One Earned Run

Jim Gregorius started for the losers and worked 6 2-3 innings He allowed only one earned run during that span and was charged with the defeat. Charles Cotton relieved in the seventh and finished up.

W-F put the game on ice in the sixth with three runs. Three straight errors loaded the bases and Kapitzke came through with a single to drive in two runners and another error allowed the third run of the frame to cross the plate.

Appleton East scored single runs in the fourth and ninth. In the fourth, Bob Grishaber was safe on an error and Gene Jack and Mark Tepper each singled to second Grishaber home. The rur in the ninth scored when three walks loaded the bases and Ken Schroeder scored on a wild pitch

If Palmer doesn't make it 13, it will greatly surprise most of the field, including Collins.

"I'm not trying to kid anybody," said Collins, who had a back operation last year and is just working his way back into playing shape "I'm still trying to get my confidence back, and I just don't have the confidence to win this tournament.

"I'll give it a try, but I'd be more surprised than anybody if I won."

3 Fish Weighin at 11½ Pounds

Threat of Rain Fails to Put Curb On Ontario Brook Trout's Appetite

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

RANGER LAKE, Ont. — The guide was frequently taking apprehensive looks at the sky as the canoe skidded along the calm surface of the lake.

"Make any difference to you if we get a little wet this afternoon," he inquired?

Jim Peerenboom of Little Chute and the writer answered no in a hurry. We were anxious to get out and try for some more scrappy brook trout. Besides, the rain would make little difference to me since I was sitting on my waterproof parka and could quickly slip it on.

Charlie, our guide, stepped up the tempo of his paddling The canoe shot along the water while overhead ominous looking thunderheads rolled across the sky and in the distance, we could hear the rumbling of thunder.

Chased Twice

It was early Tuesday afternoon following an exasperating morning which saw our party get chased off the lake twice by heavy downpours. We had fished around the lake on which our outpost camp was located, but the trout, apparently sulking because of the weather, were not in a hungry mood.

The boat with Post-Crescent Photographer Ed Deschler and Bud Page of Appleton in it had two nice fish, Peerenboom and the writer were skunked and it was the same story for Bob Mancl and Charlie Holler in the other canoe.

After lunch and getting dried out a bit from the morning experience with the rain, we decided to go out own ways for the afternoon fishing. Up to that point we had been fishing in relatively the same area so Deschler could get pictures.

Short Portages

Charlie said we would make two relatively short portages and try a small lake about eight miles from the camp. It sprinkled a bit while we were going through the woods on the first portage but the major part of the early afternoon thunderstorm passed around us.

After the second portage, we reached the lake and baited up. We both used a pair of big double spinners and a gob of nightcrawler for bait. This seems to work particularly well on the trout and especially during or after a rain.

Charlie worked the canoe around the lake once and soon Peerenboom and I were both into nice trout at the same time. The guide cleverly kept the canoe in the right position so the trout did not tangle the lines. Peerenboom's was the first to come to the net, a hefty 3-pounder and in a few seconds Charlie netted mine, practically a twin to the other one.

Travel in Schools

Twice after that we both hooked fish at the same time as the brookies seemed to be travelling in schools Suddenly, I felt a sharp tug on the line, gave a little slack so he could get the hook good and then set it

For what seemed like a full 20 minutes we were unable to see what was at the end of the line The fish raced around in the water but would not come to the surface Finally, when we did get a chance to see it, Charlie said to keep a tight line because it was a big one.

Well, he was right Not only was it a big one but it was the heaviest one our group had taken up to that time. It tipped the scale at a shade light of the 4½-pound mark.

Because of the long trip back and the late hour of the afternoon we did not stay at the lake much longer. However, in the space of the hour and a half we had spent there we had seven beautiful trout. Two weighed around 2½ pounds and the others all were better than three pounds. The three largest fish weighed in at 11½ pounds.

Clouded Over

That evening the sky clouded over heavily and around 9 p.m., when it's still very much daylight in the north country, a wind and rainstorm the likes of which we had never seen before tore into our island camp

Our cabin had sheets of aluminum for roofing and the rain hammering down sounded like somebody riveting right in your ear The wind howled fiercely and lightning streaked across the sky followed by booming claps of thunder.

The guides left their cabin and came over to ours remarking, "If one goes, we all go." We started a poker game that found us having to yell in order to be heard above the rain hammering on the roof and the thunder pounding outside.

It was after midnight when we hit the sack and the wind and rain was still at gale force although the thundering had subsided. The next morning the sky was crystal clear, the temperature was in the low 40s and possibly even the 30s and a gusty wind was still coming from the northeast This was to be our final day as the plane was scheduled to come in and get us in the evening.

Trenton Jackson Ties Record for 100-Meter Dash

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Trenton Jackson of Illinois tied the NCAA record of 10.2 seconds for the 100 meter dash despite a wet track in Thursday's national collegiate track championship preliminaries.

Pushed by Harry Jerome of Oregon, co-holder of the world record at 10 seconds flat, Jackson surged ahead midway in the race after changing his mind about running easy.

Jerome was second in 10.3 seconds.

Moderate showers caused delays on this opening program of the three-day meet at Oregon's Hayward Field.

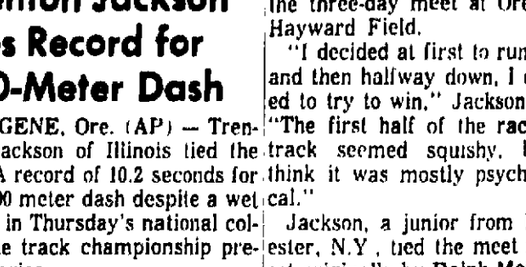

"I decided at first to run easy and then halfway down, I decided to try to win," Jackson said. "The first half of the race the track seemed squishy, but I think it was mostly psychological."

Jackson, a junior from Rochester, N.Y., tied the meet mark set originally by Ralph Metcalfe matched by Jesse Owens of Ohio State in 1936, Paul Winder of Morgan State in 1960 and Charlie Tidwell of Kansas in 1960.

Medalist Out In NCAA Golf

Martin Bohen Upsets Potter On 19th Hole

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—It was a day of tight matches and at least one upset Thursday as the field of 16 was reduced to four for today's semifinals at the 67th NCAA Golf Tournament.

Of Thursday's 12 matches, six went into extra holes. The longest was 22 holes—a match in which Jim Colbert of Kansas State eliminated Forest Evashevski Jr., of Michigan, 1-up.

The upset was the elimination of Jerry Potter of the University of Miami, Fla., by Martin Bohen of Southern California. Potter, the tournament medalist, lost 1-up in 19 holes. He had had a medal score of 139.

Paired for today's 36-hole semis are Bohen and Colbert, Marty Fleckman of Houston and Terry Small of San Jose State.

Fleckman came from behind to win his afternoon match after trailing by three holes at the halfway mark to Larry Beem of New Mexico State. Fleckman holed a six-foot putt on the 18th to send the match into overtime. He beat Beem on the 20th.

Small, a long hitter, had to play 19 holes in the morning to oust Randy Petrie of Houston. But he gained a comparatively easy 3 and 2 triumph over Paul Des Jardins—Miami's last survivor—in the afternoon. It was the only afternoon match that didn't go to 18 or beyond.

Gopher Coach Cites Markus

Minnesota Cops NCAA Crown on 5-1 Decision

BY JIM VAN VALKENBURG

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—"Dewey Markus is the guy—put it in his hands and it's done," Coach Dick Siebert said after his Minnesota club beat Missouri 5-1 for its third straight election-year NCAA baseball crown.

"I've never singled out one man before," Siebert said of his fiery junior second baseman. "But Dewey picked us up after that brutal Texas trip. After that I didn't know if we belonged in the Big Ten. He chewed out every man who booted a grounder in practice.

"He made those head-first slides, and soon every guy on the club was sliding head-first—even into home," Siebert said. "You know, the kid is an inspiration—he's only 5-foot-7 and he had all those big guys following him around like lap dogs."

Joe Pollack, big junior righthander, also drew high praise from Siebert for his four-hitter. He had a strong fast ball and threw a baffling change-up with two of three different speeds.

"Joe was in command," Siebert said. "This was probably his best game."

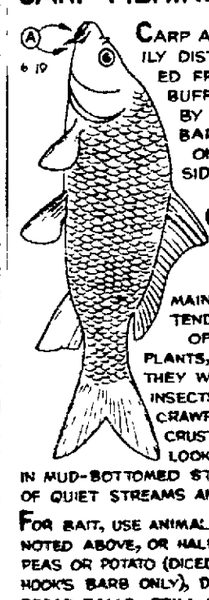

Shortly after the game, Markus signed with the Chicago Cubs for a nominal $2,500 bonus, with Siebert's blessing.

Minnesota won the NCAA in both its previous trips to the finals, 1956 and 1960. This was Missouri's fourth time in the finals and third runner-up finish, all under Coach Hi Simmons.

Team Managers Ham It Up to emphasize that a "cold war" has broken out between the radio-TV and the Post-Crescent softball teams as they await Monday night's showdown at Goodland Field. Wielding the weapons are John Torinus, left, manager of the Post-Crescent unit; and Bob Lloyd, right, pilot of the radio-TV team. Ralph Mueller, Foxes general manager, acts as mediator. Promises 'Tricks' of His Own

Torinus Scores Use Of Radio-TV 'Ringers'

Bob Lloyd, manager of the radio-television team, was criticized today for adding "ringers" to the team which will oppose Post-Crescent writers Monday night at Goodland Field.

John Torinus, skipper of the Post-Crescent team, said Lloyd "is stooping to foul tactics in an attempt to embarrass the Post-Crescent."

The two teams are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the first game of a doubleheader for "Post-Crescent Booster Night." In the second game, the Foxes meet the Quad-City Angels in a regularly-scheduled game.

"Lloyd's tactics reveal how desperate he is," Torinus said, and added, "he's willing to go to any extreme to win Monday's game — even using ineligible players and 'ringers'."

Picks 2 Bobcats

The outburst by Torinus was a result of an announcement Thursday by Lloyd that John Mayasich and Jim Mattson, Green Bay Bobcats' hockey player-coach and goalie, respectively, would play for the radio-TV team.

Mayasich, who is manager of Green Bay Radio Station WDUZ, is well known as one of the top softball pitchers in northeastern Wisconsin.

Mattson, a top flight softball catcher as well as a hockey goalie, has no direct radio or television affiliations.

"However," Lloyd said, "Mattson qualifies because he has been interviewed several times on radio and television."

Torinus added that "if Lloyd intends to use such tactics, I want him to know that I have a few tricks of my own up my sleeve."

Those planning to attend Post-Crescent Booster night and witness a full schedule of bitterly-contested sports may purchase advance tickets from Post-Crescent carriers. The tickets are just 75 cents during the advance sale and newscarriers are able to retain a substantial percentage from the sale of each ticket through the cooperation of The Foxes organization. Prizes are also being awarded carriers selling the most tickets.

Bears Trade Youmans for Gary Barnes

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears traded Maury Youmans, a defensive end, to the Dallas Cowboys Thursday for Gary Barnes, an offensive end.

The owner-coach of the Bears, George Halas, said it was a straight player swap.

Barnes, 6-4 and 210 pounds, was the No. 3 draft pick in 1962 of the Green Bay Packers. But just before the 1963 season he was traded to Dallas for a draft choice. With Dallas last year, the former Clemson player caught 15 passes for 195 yards.

Youmans, 6-6 and 260, came to the Bears in 1960 from Syracuse. He injured a knee in an exhibition game last year and did not play last season.

Four Former Victors In Road America Test

International Sports Car Races At Elkhart Lake Draw 215 Entries

ELKHART LAKE (AP)—The six-race, two-day International June Sprints for sports cars at Road America has attracted 215 entries, including four former winners of feature races on the four-mile course.

Two 60-mile races are scheduled for Saturday, with four on Sunday, including the 160-mile program feature.

It is Sunday's windup race, set for 3:45, that has drawn the four former winners. They are Hap Sharp of Midland, Texas, who will drive a Chevrolet-powered Chaparral; Bill Wuesthoff and Augie Pabst of Milwaukee and Walt Hansgen of Westfield, N.J.

Sharp won the 1962 fall classic, a nearly 500-mile grind, and Wuesthoff won it last year. Wuesthoff has entered a Porsche 904. Pabst, winner of the 1960 sprints, will drive a Lola coupe of the Necom Racing team of Texas.

Hansgen, who has twice won the sprints and taken two victories in the 500-miler, will drive another Mecom car, a Lotus 19B.

Saturday's program includes 60-milers for F. G and H production cars and "formula" cars. Three 80-milers will precede Sunday's feature.

Appleton's Les Behm is the only Fox Cities area entrant in the sprints. He will drive cars in both the Formula V and Formula Junior classes.

innings on homers by Donn Clendenon and Willie Stargell, the latter a two-run shot.

A 12-hit Pirate attack handed Al Jackson his seventh straight loss and ran the little lefty's season's mark to 3-10. It was the sixth straight setback for the Mets.

Eagles Win, Take Over Second Place

KAUKAUNA — Eagles Club (6-1) downed Mullen Barbers, 4-2, in a City Softball League game Wednesday to take over second place.

The winners scored four runs in the second inning on two walks, an error and two singles, the lone hits of the game off Jerry Vande Loo. The losers managed four hits off the hurling of Tim Femal.

Two walks and a double by Jim Van Boxtel gave the losers their runs in the fifth.

Yesterday's Stars

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PITCHING — Vern Law, Pirates, allowed only three singles, winning his fourth game in the last five starts as Pittsburgh walloped the New York Mets 10-0.

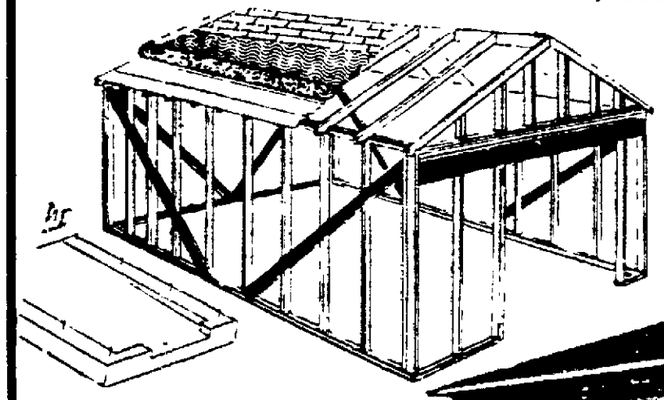

BATTING — Julian Javier, Cardinals, slammed a homer, double and single, driving in five runs, a one-game St. Louis high for the year, in a 7-6 victory over San Francisco.

Scranton Heads for Tour of Kentucky

Seeks Support of State's 24 Uncommitted Delegates For National Convention

BY JACK LYNCH

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, back from a whirlwind tour of the Midwest, today heads for Kentucky in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Scranton's immediate object is to capture Kentucky's 24 uncommitted delegate votes at the GOP National Convention.

On the eve of his flying trip to Louisville, Scranton disclosed receipt of a letter of endorsement from Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The former president himself has remained neutral in the campaign.

Defeat Predicted

Scranton also told a news conference Thursday night that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, his front-running opponent for the nomination, would be defeated by President Johnson if he voted against the compromise civil rights bill nearing a showdown in the Senate.

Scranton's remark came less than a half hour after Goldwater had said on the Senate floor that he planned to vote against the bill. The governor called on the senator to repudiate his stand.

Scranton was asked if he thought, that as a matter of practical politics, Goldwater could be elected president if he voted against civil rights.

"No, I don't," Scranton replied. "I think it would be very difficult."

Capitol Picketed

Scranton, who returned to the state capital early Thursday, ran into a civil rights problem of his own, when demonstrators picketed the Capitol and threatened to picket every stop on his campaign tour unless he did something about alleged state police brutality in a racial incident at Chester in April.

Aides succeeded in delaying action by the demonstrators for a week.

Scranton's campaign staff has arranged an afternoon meeting today at Louisville with Kentucky's 24 uncommitted delegates.

Although 16 of the Kentuckians reportedly lean toward Goldwater, Scranton said he had been told by the state's two Republican senators, Thruston B Morton and John Sherman Cooper, that conditions would be "extremely favorable" to Scranton on the second ballot at the convention.

At the news conference Scranton said he welcomed Dr. Eisenhower's support "wholeheartedly."

Policy Advisor

"If elected, I will name him an advisor on foreign policy" the governor added.

Dr. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, in a copy of a letter released to newsmen, said "As an individual I offer you my full support."

Scranton said his first week of campaigning has "met with unusual success, even beyond what he imagined."

He said his assessment has been confirmed by Republican leaders, but he declined to name them.

Scranton refused to assess his own delegate strength. The Associated Press survey gives him 130 to 677 for Goldwater. The number needed for nomination is 655.

"I don't agree with The Associated Press poll," he said. "I don't consider it to be accurate."

Production of Farm Crops Is Down in Cuba

Agriculture Chief Predicts Solution To Problems Soon

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba's land reform chief draws a bleak picture of farm production under the Castro regime, but he claims most pressing agricultural problems will be solved by 1966.

This will entail major changes in the organization of agriculture introduced after Fidel Castro came to power in 1959 and partial mechanization of the sugar harvest with 100 Soviet cane cutters.

Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, president of the National Agrarian Reform Institute, revealed contemplated changes in farm methods — and the reasons for them — in an interview.

Full Development

In two years, Rodriguez said, with nagging problems out of the way, "we'll be in full development which will enable us to achieve our goal of a 10-million-ton sugar crop in 1970."

Rodriguez, a member of the Cuban Communist hierarchy long before Castro won power, declined to comment on the outlook for the current sugar harvest. Castro has classified production top secret.

Western and Eastern European sources here speculate the crop will be somewhat above last year's reported 3.8 million tons. U.S. forecasters in Washington have predicted a drop to 3.3 million tons, less than half the 1960-61 output.

Overhaul Planned

A thorough overhaul of Cuba's farming organization is planned by the end of this year, Rodriguez said. An immediate objective will be decentralization of day-to-day control.

"We have found it is not possible to run agriculture from Havana," said Rodriguez.

Already under way is the consolidation of some 800 state farms into 60 production units of 250,000 to 500,000 acres each.

The consolidated units will specialize in particular crops.

Rodriguez said their managers will have autonomy in the daily handling of their regions but will operate under plans and goals prepared at the national level.

Production Figures

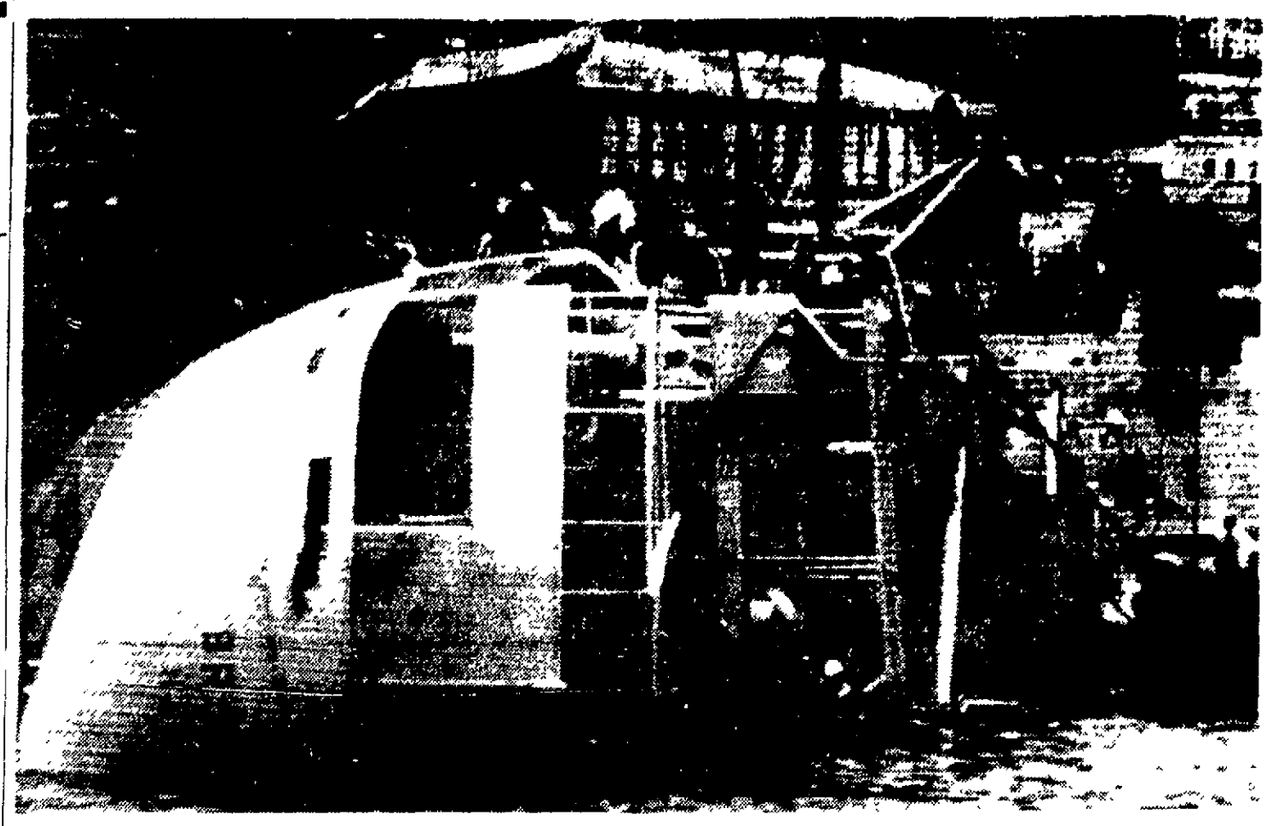

Rodriguez revealed these 1963 production figures which indicated things have not been going well down on the farms:

Rice — 408 million pounds compared with 670.7 million in 1960.

Potatoes—171.6 million pounds compared with 211.8 millions in 1960.

Tomatoes — 184.8 million pounds against 192.5 million in 1960.

Cotton — 21.4 million pounds compared with 30.4 million in 1961.

Laird Doubts Milk Rules Are To be Changed

Proposals Limit Amount of Milk Sent to Chicago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., expressed doubt today the Agriculture Department will drop proposed changes in the federal milk marketing agreement for the Chicago area which he said would mean a loss in income to Wisconsin dairy farmers.

The changes recommended by Arthur H. Miller, an examiner for the Agriculture Department, were to have taken effect June 11.

In the face of sharp protests, the department postponed the effective date to July 11. Laird said he is confident that the department will agree to his request for a further postponement to Aug. 11.

Proposed Changes

The proposed changes, he said, would limit the number of Wisconsin dairy farmers that could send milk into the Chicago area. It would restrict the fluid milk market for Chicago to farmers within about a 75-mile radius of Chicago. At present farmers as far as 200 miles from Chicago can ship milk into that market.

The recommended changes, he said, also would revise the accounts and classification methods for both Class I and Class II milk, call for tighter pool plant provisions, and alter the methods of adjusting credit for fluid milk moving between plants.

Raise Prices

"This is done to raise prices of those supplying the Chicago market," he said, "but it would remove a good many dairy farmers from the opportunity of selling in this market."

Laird said it is impossible for Wisconsin milk producers to file exceptions to the proposed changes within the present time limit.

32nd Readying For Inspection By Governor

CAMP MCCOY (AP)—Sort of a dryland clean sweepdown fore and aft was in store today for Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division, getting ready for inspection Saturday by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

The governor's annual review will mark the mid-point in the two-week summer training project. Reynolds will receive a 17-gun salute.

As the division's 5,000 men prepared to close a five-day field exercise, artillery commander Col. Thomas J. Makal of Whitefish Bay saluted the 900 men in his unit.

After the close of a field exercise, Makal said, "Through this assignment we were able to eject more realism in our summer encampment and avoid the routine of military training."

Another major project completed Thursday was a command post action involving staff planning, coordination and communications.

Reburial of Indian Chief Postponed When Grave Can't be Found

HOBART, Okla. (AP)—Kiowa Indian Chief Big Bow has proved to be as elusive in death as he was when he was alive.

Reburial ceremonies set for next Saturday have been postponed indefinitely because the remains, thought to have been buried on a farm near this southeastern Oklahoma town, cannot be located.

Big Bow, who died at the turn of the century at 68, was once known as the "terror of the frontier." He surrendered to military authorities in 1874 and later served as an Army scout. He was to have been reburied at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Into Retreat First

Accuser of Cardinal Will be Transferred

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The young priest who tried to get the Pope to remove his cardinal is going on a retreat, a vacation, and to a new parish, says a chancery spokesman.

"So far as we are concerned, the case is resolved," the spokesman said.

The Rev. William H. DuBay, had written the Pope accusing the Los Angeles archbishop, James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of "gross malfeasance in office" for failing to speak out on racial matters.

Second Summons

Father DuBay was reportedly summoned to the chancery of the Los Angeles archdiocese Thursday—for the second time since he made his letter public at a June 11 news conference.

Since the original announcement, Father DuBaz has said he could make no further statement on the matter.

After Thursday's appearance, unofficial spokesmen for the priest said apparently he would drop his drive.

One source said that Father DuBay was asked to "protest his loyalty" to Cardinal McIntyre Thursday—which would have the effect of preventing him from complaining further against the cardinal.

Was Threatened

At his news conference earlier this month Father DuBay said: "Having been disciplined several times for speaking on the issue, I was threatened a year ago with suspension of priestly duties if I continued to preach that integration is a moral issue.

"In private Cardinal McIntyre stated that there are many valid reasons for segregation, and declared that. 'After all, white parents have a right to protect their daughters.'"

The cardinal himself has made no comment on the matter. He is also on a retreat. The chancery has declined to mention the matter.

Official Voice

Thursday, The Tidings, the 127,000-weekly circulation paper which is the official voice of the archdiocese, denied the young priest's accusations in a lengthy editorial.

Newsmen were informed Father DuBay would go on retreat Monday at St. John's Major Seminary at Camarillo, Calif., and then go on three week's vacation. After that he will become a parish priest at some undisclosed location.

He was an assistant to the pastor at St. Albert the Great Catholic Church in Compton, Calif., in a predominantly Negro area, when he made his letter public.

Plane Emergency At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Eastern Air Lines plane landed safely Thursday at International Airport after reporting it had lost hydraulic pressure. Three tires blew out, but the landing gear was down when the craft touched ground.

The plane, which carried a crew of seven and 27 passengers, was from New York and had stopped at Houston.

Bank Auditor Captures Bandit With Judo Hold

POINT PLEASANT BEACH, N.J. (AP)—"I made a decision he shouldn't get away with any assets of my bank."

That was the comment of Paul Jones, 47, who captured a holdup man as the bandit walked out of the Ocean County National Bank with $1,051.

Jones, an auditor, grabbed the man on the sidewalk. He applied a judo hold he had learned years ago in the Navy, then steered the man back into the bank to await police.

Police arrested Walter J. Odorczyk, 49, of Trenton, and said he would be charged with violating federal bank robbery statutes.

Police said the robber had ordered teller Peter T. Duffy to fill a bag with bills. As Duffy filled the bag, he triggered an alarm bell, sending Jones into action.

Mootini Served Cow at Luncheon

LOS ANGELES (AP) The sign atop the Hyatt House, a hotel-restaurant, said: "June is dairy month. Take a cow to lunch."

So Ray Hansen and his daughter, Ann, did. Hansen is president of the Dairy Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Betty Lou, the bovine, consumed some hay in the restaurant Thursday. She dressed for the occasion — in a flowered straw bonnet.

The sign atop the Hyatt House that afternoon said: "Guess what? A cow came to lunch. And had a mootini."

Self-Confidence Course Pays Off

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Doug Trent, who says night school taught him self-confidence, arrived in Greensboro Thursday after a 10-day bicycle trip from Chicago.

Trent, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Trent of Chicago, said he averaged 80 to 90 miles a day on the 860-mile trip.

He said the night school course that impressed him the most was called the "science of success."

"I can personally say that the course I had in self-confidence has done me a lot of good," Trent said. "When I got about halfway up some of those steep hills on my bike I thought I could either get off and walk the rest of the way or say to myself 'You're going to ride all the way.' I rode."

Acne Rosacea Causes Not Easy to Specify

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about acne Rosacea, its cause or contributing factors? Can it be cleared up or cured? I have been plagued with this skin ailment for years, and it had no connection with adolescence. MRS. R. W.

Dr. Molner

It's troublesome all right, and is as annoying in adults as simple acne is to the adolescent. It occurs usually among women in middle years often approaching menopause.

Specifying a cause is anything but easy, but we can tell the types of people most likely to encounter it. Aside from age and sex, major factors are an oily and a sensitive skin; a high degree of vasomotor instability (the nervous system controlling blushing and perspiration); and emotional factor. Sufferers of it are likely to be dynamic, ambitious individuals; tense; and inclined to worry about domestic or business matters. Many get inadequate rest and are chronically tired.

Acne rosacea is featured by aflushing and redness, with pimples, and prominence of the capillaries or tiny blood vessels close to the surface.

It is well worthwhile to consul' a dermatologist, even though you should not expect him to produce an medication that will instantly solve the problem.

Beware Over Treatment

Bland lotions and possibly small doses of X-ray are helpful, but one must guard against over treatment with salves and lotions, because sensitive skins may be made worse rather than better by adding a new type of irritation on top of the original one.

Skins of such persons ordinarily do not tolerate direct sunshine, which can increase the flushing.

Indirect (but significa n t) treatment may involve such things as relieving menopausal if they exist, and correction of any thyroid disorders.

Modification of mode of living and emotional attitudes is essential. That is usually the hardest part of the treatment for the physician, since it is natural enough for many of these patients to insist that they aren't worriers or overly tense or ambitious. After all, the way they are seems natural to them. Or even when they do recognize their own tensions, they don't find it easy to adopt a new outlook on life.

Additionally, if the patient is overweight, fats should be cut down in the diet.

An added tip: Be wary of food sensitivities, such as chocolate and sea foods which may not be (not necessarily are) involved.

Dear Dr. Milner: Please explain a 12 per cent hemoglobin count. Why would a chest X-ray be necessary if this count does not rise?—Mrs. M.K

I question whether you mean 12 per cent, as it is more usual to measure hemoglobin (that is, the oxygen-carrying part of the blood) in terms such as "12 grams per cent," which means "12 grams per 100 cubic centimeters of blood."

This would be a low normal value for a woman. If you do indeed mean 12 per cent, that would be extremely low and indicate some form of anemia. If so, the X-rays would be to see whether some disease of the lungs might be causing it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for the lining of the lower colon or rectum to sag? I was told to have an operation for this.—M. K.

Yes. The condition is called prolapse of the rectum—the membranous wall of the lower bowel can protrude through the rectal opening. It can be corrected by surgery.

Note to Mrs. Z. C.: Streptococcus infection is not necessarily a "blood disease." It is an infection by the streptococcus germ, different varieties of which cause scarlet fever, rheumatic fever, strep throat and other diseases.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, Acne—The Teen-Age Problem. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Paper Bag Kicking Game Has Two Versions for Picnic Play

BY CAPPY DICK

This game is fun to play at a picnic. You will need a stout paper bag for each player — the big kind the grocer uses to hold a lot of packages. Blow the bags full of air and tie them with string as in Figure 1. Have some spare bags on hand to replace those that are broken during the game.

Establish a starting line and, about 20 yards away, a goal line. The players line up at the starting line, place their sacks on the line and, at a signal, all kick off. Each player continues kicking his paper bag, trying to be first to cross the goal line (Figure 2).

A player may strike his sack with his foot or knee, but if he hits it with his hand or any other part of his body he must go back to the starting line and begin again. If a player breaks his sack he is out of the game, although he may blow up a new bag for the next game. The first player to kick his sack across the goal line is the winner.

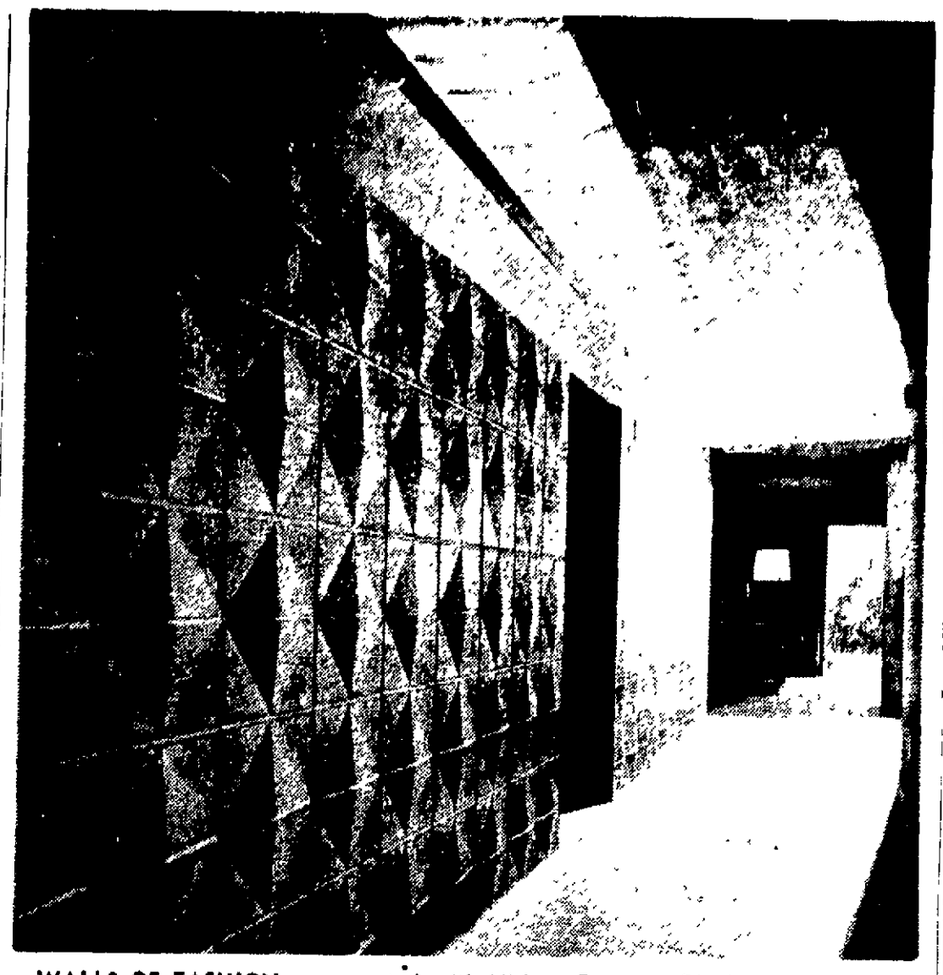

Another game may be played with a double paper bag made by putting one bag inside the other for greater strength and blowing them up as one. The players are divided into two equal teams and there must be two goal lines, one for each team. The double sack is placed between the goals.

At a signal, the two teams kick at it, each trying to move it across the goal of its rival. No player may touch the sack with his hands. If he does, his team is penalized by having to remove him from the game. The team that kicks the sack across its opponent's goal is the winner.

WALLS OF FASHION are created with Hi-Lite Concrete Block from Hoerning's. You can almost see the durability, almost feel the warmth. Block is an excellent self-insulator, providing the homeowner with savings on heating and air conditioning and its natural texture renders a new ultimate in sound reduction. No building material available today combines so many attributes with such low cost.

Block is an open house to originality .... an invitation to new imaginative designs and patterns for residential walls . an esthetic conclusion to all that is desired for the quality home.

Sterility in wall surfaces is far too common in much of today's home construction. Concrete block is changing all that by leaps and bounds. Different types of block and combinations of units create sleepless walls which eloquently awaken passers-by to the unique mastery of modern masonry construction.

Expensive? Well, block gives you more decorative living space than any other material on the market today! And block's durable yet handsome texture eliminates almost all routine maintenance chores right from the start.

Block gives you the complete wall. Both the exterior and interior faces work off the same units. No necessary facing materials, insulations or coverings to put up with — thus keeping basic material costs to a refreshing minimum.

Inviting entryways with arresting splashes of imagination! Where else could you find it but in block? Stacked bond patterns, running bond patterns, ashlar patterns, take your choice. Or combine unusual shapes and sizes to give you real personality patterns .... ones which reflect the tastes and distinction of homeowners themselves. Linear compositions for custom walls are countless with hi-lite block, and can be laid up in so many ways that it is difficult to number the pattern possibilities.

Hi-Lite block mixes with exacting ease and elegance. Whether it be combined with wood, stone, glass, metal, plastic, upholstery fabrics, or what have you — you have texture and warmth, the prerequisities of a good "blender", and hi-lite block's got both attributes. Meld it with any material you wish. You'll discover, too, that a concrete masonry wall can be adapted to more interior decors and motifs than any homebuilding material around. Besides its beauty, hi-lite block is so economical it allows you to add special accents and accouterments with your savings.

Clean-cut mortar joints lace together to form a pleasing linear network. Texture is brought out at night with the warmth of lamplight. All is right with hi-lite block — day and night. Why not invite this beautiful, versatile and inexpensive wall magician into your home. You'll be surprised, too, how it invites itself into your heart. Call Hoerning's at 2-4301 for full details.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

Yes. Smokers tend to be less stable and more restless than those who do not smoke. Smokers statistically marry more often. They display a tendency toward both divorce and widowhood. They move from one residence to another more frequently. They change their jobs more often, and are in and out of the hospital more than non-smokers are. No one knows, or is saying, whether smokers smoke because they are restless, or are restless because they smoke. It would be interesting to know, wouldn't it?

A young wife today needs to be self-reliant.

True —— False ——

True. She starts her homemaking in a community that is new to her and her husband. Many of the developments in which newlyweds settle are so new they too are without a past. The young wife's husband is often away from home getting established in his work. Her former friends and family are likely to be widely scattered across the country. Yet, within the first couple of years of her marriage, she will be setting up housekeeping, working to help meet expenses, having her first baby, and making more decisions than in any similar period in her lifetime.

This is the formula which is enlarged upon in the booklet, "Facing Facts of Married Life." To get your copy of this pull-no-punches guide, send 20 cents and a stamped, return envelope to this column, care Appleton Post-Crescent.

The APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

Country Life

Excellent Stands of Alfalfa have been obtained in the top dressing program at the Krenke farm. Joe Walker, Waupaca County agent, left, and Dudley Krenke check one of the fields cut in early June. In only the second year of the five-year program sponsored by the TVA, Krenke has almost eliminated the winter kill problem. By annual top dressing he has also increased tonnage per acre, and is getting better quality hay. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Fertilizer Use Aids Alfalfa at Waupaca

Top Dressing Program May be Key to Revitalize Neglected Hay Crop, County Agent Says

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — Top dressing of alfalfa with fertilizer pays off in rapid growth, better yield per acre and a higher protein feed, four Waupaca County farmers who are participating in a TVA experimental project have found.

In the second year of a five-year program, farmers on the project have already found a substantial increase in crop yield and also are getting better quality alfalfa. Participating in the program are Dudley Krenke, Fremont; James Loughrin, Manawa; Norman Johnson, Ogdensburg, and Clarence Dieck, Marion.

Beforer the program was started, soil tests of the four farms were made and an ideal fertility level is being sought through the proper application of fertilizers. By top dressing with fertilizer each year the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash taken from the soil by the previous years crop is replaced.

Early First Cutting

Results of the program so far have shown that an early first cutting can be made which creates the possibility of three good cuttings of alfalfa annually, yield increases are substantial, in some cases nearly double, and by being able to cut the first crop of alfalfa early, the yield has a lower fiber percentage and is a better milk producing feed.

Types of fertilizers being used by the TVA cooperators are 0-30-30, 0-15-45, 0-0-60 for top dressing and 0-11-44Z for side dressing in light or sandy soil. Application varies from 150 to 300 pounds per acre.

Joe Walker, Waupaca County Agent who is assisting in the project, said last year's records show that the largest increases were found on the test plots of Clarence Dieck at Marion where only one ton per acre was cut from fields with no fertilizer and the acreage with fertilizer produced 2.5 tons per acre, per cutting. Results at the other farms were, Loughrin, from 2.8 tons per acre to 3.2 tons; Johnson, from 2.6 tons to 2.9 tons and at the Krenke farm from 1.42 tons to 2.75 tons per acre.

Follow Recommendations

The farmers are using the recommended types and amounts of fertilizer and are

Fox Valley Ayrshires Cited for Production By Breed Organization

Two Fox Valley area Ayrshires were rocognized by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association for milk production.

A four-year-old in the Ross Hacker heard, Brillion, completed an official production record of 14,710 pounds of milk and 570 of butterfat on twice a day milking for a period not exceeding 305 days.

The Frank G. Ott and Son herd, Menasha, has a four-year-old, which produced 15,630 pounds of milk and 659 pounds of butterfat during a similar test period.

Another Ott animal produced 13,980 pounds of milk and 560 pounds of butterfat during a lactation.

Raucous Sentry

Guinea Is Noisy but Vanishing Bird

BY CHARLIE HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Guinea hens, the raucous-voiced sentry of almost every farm and barnyard of a few decades ago, have all but disappeared from the Wisconsin scene today—and one wonders why.

Those quaint and pretty speckled critters once shared guardian duties with family watchdogs, and their outrageous cries of alarm ("BUCKWHEAT! BUCKWHEAT!") could shatter the slumber of a small community. But they are rare in Wisconsin today.

Not only noisy sentries they were, but these relatives of grouse and pheasant are table delicacies, too, for the flavor of guinea fowl flesh is delicately gamey.

Why are they no longer regular citizens of the poultry yard?

"Too Danged Noisy"

"Ther're just too danged noisy!" said a Northport farmer. "Every time a stranger came into the yard, the darned guineas would just about drive me crazy. I finally got rid of my flock of about 50. Now I can sleep on a Sunday morning."

Said a poultryman: "I can remember when just about every farmyard had them but now I don't know a farmer in the area who has even one of them. I think the reason is that poulterers now raise their chickens indoors, and guineas are out-of-doors birds."

Said a Fremont area farmer: "They lay eggs only in the springtime. They're not like chickens because they can't be made to produce a couple of hundred eggs a year. They lay very small eggs and just enough for their own brood and there's the end to it. Farmers have to have more production than just the meat of the guinea fowl. I think that's why there're not common these days."

Flock of 70

Elwyn West, Lind Center, seven miles south of Waupaca, is a devotee of the guineas and he plans to finish the season with a flock of about 70 of the garrulous birds.

"I prefer them to the taste of chicken," he said. "I like the gamey flavor and I never tire of it as I do of chicken."

West has kept guinea fowl for about 15 years. He avers that there is a good market for the speckled birds but that he raises them mainly for his own consumption.

They are easy to raise, he pointed out. Though he feeds them as he feeds chickens in the

Approximately $10,000 remains of Outagamie County's Agricultural Conservation Practice (ACP) allocation.

While announcing the amount remaining in the fund for the current fiscal year, Joseph Rickert, county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office manager reminded farmers that cover crops must be established by July 1 on acreage diverted in the feed grain program.

Cost sharing is available for legume seeding and fertilizer, Rickert said.

County Fairs Have Animal Health Laws

Regulations Aimed At Protecting Show Stock From Disease

BY COURTNEY SCHWERTZ

Health regulations have been established at county fairs to protect your show animals from serious livestock disease. Know the health regulations well in advance of opening fair day and take the proper steps to meet these requirements.

Schwertz

The state veterinarians office or your local veterinarian can supply you with the important details. Animals that don't meet the health standards are not allowed at fairs.

There are several things 4-H members can do to make the vaccination job easier and to insure that every member arrives at the fair with the proper health certificates.

Appoint several livestock project members in your club to contact a veterinarian to find out the health regulations that must be met for the various types of livestock. These members can then report their findings to the entire membership.

Make sure that every member in your 4-H club has prepared for the veterinarian before he arrives. Animals should be confined to pens or other holding facilities so that they are readily available when the veterinarian gets to the farm. Each 4-H livestock member should be present to assist the veterinarian and to show him the animals that must be vaccinated.

It would also be a good idea to make one club member responsible for all health certificates. This member could then present all certificates to the fair veterinarian when the livestock arrive at the fair.

Stockbridge-Winnebago Watershed Association members compared results of their conservation practices recently with neighboring farms where erosion control had not been carried out. The comparison was made through colored slides. Discussing the slides are, from left, Justin Christie, charter member, Louis Kakuk, Manitowoc, who showed the slides; Arthur Daun, secretary-treasurer; Raymond Ecker, president, and Ernest Franzen, trustee. Seventeen youths represented Outagamie County at the 44th State 4-H Club Week in Madison June 16-19. The theme of the conference this year was "citizenship."

Delegates from Appleton included Melvin Hechel, route 1, Chuck Gross, 210 W. Edgewood Dr., Gerald Bodoh, route 4, James Zerbe, route 2, Barbara Beyer, route 2, Lois Geer, 841 W. Broadway Dr., and Karen Fehrman, route 2.

Also attending were Mike Lemke, route 2, Shiocton; Beverly Kusserow, route 2, New London; Jayne Mueller, route 2, Seymour, Cheryl Mueller, Seymour, Lola Schultz, route 1, Seymour and John Micke, route 2, Kaukauna.

Band members from Outagamie were Mary Eisenreich, Seymour, Edward Larson, route 1, Hortonville and James Salaman route 2, New London.

Maribeth Hartwig, Seymour, participated in the state 4-H chorus.

1,000 Delegates

Over 1,000 delegates, leaders and extension agents heard speakers discuss the theme at three levels—international and national, state and community, and family.

In today's increasingly closeknit world it's becoming more important that young people recognize the needs for and demands of citizenship in a wider sphere, said Frank Campbell, state 4-H leader in charge of the conference.

To develop the international citizenship theme, Wisconsin International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) delegates to Germany and Nigeria, and IFYE exchangees to Wisconsin from Norway, Scotland and India, talked on international understanding. Charles Vetter, of the United States Information Agency, spoke on the "International Dimension for Modern Citizenship."

Responsibilities as citizens to community and state was taken up by Jack Barbach, professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin. The delegates also visited the state capitol.

Individual and family responsibilities were treated by Rev. Ellsworth Kalas, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Madison.

A talent night was held with competition in speaking, music and drama. The traditional "Sunset Reflections" and tree dedication ceremonies were also held.

Larsen Man Attends Nutrition Conference at UW

Dr. H. J. Landskron, Larsen, attended a special nutrition conference for Wisconsin veterinarians at the University of Wisconsin in Madison this week. He joined nearly 60 other state veterinarians at the June 15-17 conference.

The event, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin and the department of veterinary science, is aimed at keeping practicing veterinarians in the state up-to-date on the latest nutritional developments for swine, dairy and beef.

Specialists from the University of Wisconsin and the University of Illinois discussed feeding programs for sick swine, feeding beef cattle, balancing dairy cattle rations and feeding for maximum swine reproduction. The effects of feeding moldy feeds, cat and fallacy of mineral supplements, antibiotics in swine rations, and the effects of feeding beef cattle antibiotics, hormones and tranquilizers were also topics of discussion.

Top Dressing Aids Waupaca Alfalfa Crop

keeping records of yields For their cooperation in the TVA project they receive a 25 per cent reduction in the cost of fertilizer they are using.

A five-ton crop of quality alfalfa removes from the soil approximately 50 pounds of phosphate, 225 pounds of potash; 3 5 pounds of borax; 140 pounds of calcium and 27 pounds of magnesium So, as Walker explained, after three years of no fertilizer, alfalfa becomes starved causing slower regrowth after cutting, more winter kill and less yield and feeding value of the forage.

Krenke said he has observed that he has had a lot less winter kill on fields that have been top dressed He added that he will have no trouble in producing a good crop of alfalfa from a field for five years and if needed can stretch this to six or seven years, through proper top dressing

Neglected Crops

Walker said, alfalfa is one of the neglected crops in Waupaca County Emphasis has been placed on oats and corn production but efforts to increase alfalfa yields through the use of fertilizer have been slight In Waupaca County alone, he said, there are 65,000 acres alfalfa compared to 45,000 acres of corn and 45,000 acres of oats, which makes alfalfa one of the important crops.

Under the TVA program, the four county cooperators also have been testing new fertilizers on corn One of the new types of fertilizer which is being used is 11-27-27, 17-17-17, 20-15-15 and a 30-10-0 is being used as a side dressing for corn

Krenke said he is able to cut his first crop early and is finding that it is making an excellent crop for low moisture silage as well as hay Last year even though it was a dry year, he had an ample supply of hay for his dairy herd This is also attributed to the use of fertilizer.

Elm Disease War Results Encouraging

State Agriculture Official Lauds Outside Cooperation

Results of the state's nine-year war with the Dutch Elm Beetle are encouraging, says George Hafstad, plant pathologist, of the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture. "Most Wisconsin communities still have a very large majority of their elms," he said.

"Although our laboratory makes the diagnosis, it is the cooperation of the tree owner, the public official, and the public employe who sends in suspect specimens for diagnosis which makes the program effective," Hafstad said.

The Dutch Elm Disease unit has received over 100 specimens to date for culture diagnosis, and expects to process between 8,000 and 10,000 before the close of the season.

Early detection and prompt removal and destruction of known cases, as well as dead and weak elm trees and elm wood of any kind to which the bark is attached, is essential for the control of the disease.

Some of the symptoms of the disease are:

All or part of the leaves suddenly wilt or droop and turn brown. A brownish discoloration is found in the outer rings of wood cut from newly wilted branches after the bark has been peeled.

U. S. to 'Export' Electric Power Co-op System

Move by REA to Expand Plan Comes While Under Attack by Private Owner Companies

BY OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government and an organization representing rural electric power cooperatives are expanding their efforts to export what they call this country's rural electric power pattern to other parts of the world.

An arrangement has been set up under which the government's Agency for International Development (AID) and the National Rural Electric Cooperation Association (NRECA) send technical experts and counsel to other non-Communist bloc countries interested in developing rural power systems.

This move to broaden the U.S. system comes at a time when the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) is under attack by private power companies and some other business groups and some lawmakers. The REA, established in 1935, extends low-interest, long-term loans to rural cooperatives for the building and expansion of power systems.

Critics contend that these rural cooperatives do not pay enough interest and are attempting to serve areas which more properly belong to private power concerns.

Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of NRECA, recently returned from a 30-day tour of The Philippines, Thailand and Korea where he conferred with leaders of those countries regarding development of rural power systems, rural industries and community facilities.

He and other REA sponsors have made similar trips to Latin America.

Ellis said on his return that he was convinced that "a program to export the REA patternis as necessary in many areas of the Far East and in Latin America where great strides are being made in the NRECA-AID self - help program."

He said that in all the countries visited there was no shortage of technical competence or engineering, but a need for organization and management techniques.

"Our experience in the United States and Latin America makes it possible for us to extend this kind of assistance in the Far East where it is so greatly needed." Ellis said.

Raucous Guinea Hen Is Disappearing Species

early summer, most guinea fowl prefer to hunt on their own. West purchases day-old chicks (at about 30 cents each) and starts them along in life. By summertime, they are generally "on their own", he said.

Wide Rang nigBirds

The wide-ranging birds often go as far as a mile from the barnyard in their quest for food. Sometimes, West pointed out, the semi-wild guineas will scorn grain to go into the fields and by-ways hunting their own food.

Grasshoppers and crickets are high on the list of dietary delights for the persnickity guineas West says that when the guineas are on the prowl for their dinner, there isn't a hopper to be found anywhere in the region.

"When a load of hay comes into the barnyard," he said, "the guineas will flock around it and get every hopper aboard the load."

The guinea is a gallinacious bird which means that they are kin-fowl to wild turkeys, pheasant, grouse, partridge and quail.

Scor Hen House

Although they have been somewhat domesticated since the times of the ancient Greeks and Romans, they retain their semi-wild state and often scorn roosting in chicken house or barn. Most flocks, however domesticated, seem to prefer roosting in farmyard trees.

West blamed the guineas' wide-ranging habits for a higher mortality in his flocks than might be expected. Foxes, which abound in the Lind Center region, last year took some 20 birds of his flock of 70.

The guinea gets its name from its homeland on the coast of West Africa. There is little apparent difference in the appearance of the hens or the cocks, at least— obscure.

MANAWA—Community boundaries for the purpose of electing Waupaca County Agricultural Stabiliation and Conservation Service committeemen will remain unchanged from those of a year ago.

The announcement was made by Martin B. Thorson, county ASCS committee manager. Each county constitutes a community.

Thorson also asked that farmers report performance on ACP practices by June 30. Included should be progress and anticipated completion date.

Expect Early Acre Check

Verification of Feed Grain Farms To be Completed

Acreage verification for farms in the 1964 Feed Grain Program is expected to be completed a month ahead of schedule in Outagamie County, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, (ASCS) office manager Joseph Rickert said

Ordinarily completed about July 31, the work should be finished this year by June 30, Rickert said The speedup was ordered for two reasons—so that farmers with under or over-acreage can make adjustments without undue hardship and to pay for the work with 1963-64 fiscal year funds The fiscal year ends June 30

Included in the work will be checking acreage of cooperators and spotchecking those whose acreage was certified Farms premeasured and those whose acreage was certified Farms premeasured and those with total acreage diversion from established fields qualified for certification Twenty-five per cent of the certified farms will be checked

Rickert said the pre-measurement and certification plan makes possible the early completion Outagamie County has 12,242 farms in the feed grain program.

Extracurricular Activities At Boys' State Many, Varied

Activities are many and varied at Badger Boys State, the week - long workshop in government conducted annually by the American Legion on the Ripon College campus.

In addition to practice in nominations, campaigns and elections, the delegates—boys who will be seniors in Wisconsin high schools next fall—are given time to participate in other group activities, as these photographs show.

Making Bed

One of the major non-political activities is the Badger Boys State band. Here, Gerald Spice, Kaukauna, has a strained look on his face as he reaches for a high cornet note, but Walter Garriott, Hortonville, plays with ease on the bassoon.

The delegates, for some things, are left to care for themselves. Making their own beds, for instance, as demonstrated by John Strange, Appleton, working to straighten the covers.

James Zempel, Fremont, checks out a card index file as he keeps track of who and what should be where and when. George Sylvester, Kimberly, arranges chess pieces in anticipation of a game with another delegate.

And there is time for reflective thought and strenuous activity as Martin Verhoeven, Appleton, looks over a playing field as a group of delegates get ready for a game of football.

Report From Camp McCoy

'Hazing' by Sergeant, Praise From General—Soldiers Remember Both

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CAMP McCOY — We awakened this morning in a hideous mood, partly due to the devilish sense of humor of S-Sgt. LeRoy Christoferson of the 1st Batallion, 127th Infantry, who prodded us from our sleeping bags with the frightening news that we had overslept reveille (and more important—chow).

House

A benign fellow who was much-liked (until now), Sgt. Christoferson, of Appleton, walked from sleeping bag to sleeping bag offering a cup of coffee along with the dread news. But, alas, the hour was 4:30 a.m. and not 5:30, and our bitterness was increased because it was raining extremely hard outside. For the former, Sgt. Christoferson has won our wrath. Revenge — not yet formulated — will be swift. We do not blame him for the heavy rains.

There are those of us who believe the sergeant belongs in the category of the miserable who love company. It had been his unpleasant duty to rise at 4 a.m. to roust out the sleeping cooks. And, sodden with rainfall, he finished his task and came to stir us from our hard-earned slumber.

Fifth of a Series

Charlie Company

The rainfall was uncomfortable, but a blessing. It wet down the dust which had come upon our bivouac area like a plague and had rendered us all into untidy, dust-laden fellows.

While my comrades practiced the arts of war, I wandered through the rainsoaked woods sometimes on foot, sometimes by jeep, to visit various components of the famed, fighting 32nd division.

At Charlie Company of the 1st Batallion, 127th Infantry, I visited with 1st-Sgt. Dick Koteski who is a tough soldier, but really quite gentle. On his military-style desk under the company tent, the tough topkick had a vase of pretty pink posies.

"Well," he said defensively, "it's a touch of home."

It is, indeed. Sgt. Koteski's 9-year-old daughter, Mary Jo, had made the imitation flowers in her Brownie group.

Night Prowler

Late last night, Co. C's Pfc. Richard Konkol of Menasha walked his lonely guard post when he heard someone moving stealthily through the woods.

"Halt!" he shouted in his best command voice.

The figure halted and stood quiet. . .waiting.

"Who's there?" Konkol demanded.

He turned on his flashlight in time to see the stealthy enemy flee into the woods. The result is that Pfc. Konkol is probably the only fellow in the division who ever "halted" a deer without using a rifle.

Charlie Company, short of its full numerical strength, has been assigned to the field kitchen of Baker's Company's mess steward. One awful result is that Charlie Company's mess steward, S-Sgt. Robert Sauer is merely a diner, instead of the glorified mess noncom (who never, never has to wait in line for chow).

A Hard World

Nevertheless, as a mere pedestrian, Sgt. Sauer always attracts a gallery of his grinning friends who make caustic remarks. It's a hard world for a mess steward who must stand in line. . .in front of his own troops.

One of the evaluators — regular army men who study our methods and techniques of military training — braced Charlie Company's Pfc. John Sopel.

"Trooper," he said, "have you had a shower in the field today?" he asked, referring to the arrangements for bathing in the field.

"Yessir," said Sopel who is from Neenah, "I had a shower on my way to breakfast this morning."

"Very good!" said the evaluator who had forgotten the heavy rains.

Former Commander

I wandered deep into the woods to visit with the men of the 2nd Brigade who were shortly to be invaded by the feared and respected evaluator and, soon afterward, by Brigadier General Donald P. Radde. The general, a fellow newspaperman, felt fraternal enough to accept my urging that he must not "gig" the 2nd Brigade because it is an Appleton outfit. The general agreed to comply, but I am sure the reason is that he was commanding officer of the 2nd Brigade when he was a "bird" colonel.

"Don't worry," he said, "I'm pretty fond of this outfit."

The evaluator, Lt. Col. Larry Kearin, indicated he would use gentle judgment too, in grading the brigade.

"They are as good a National Guard unit as I have seen in a very long time," he said.

'Damned Good'

If Larry Mory's friends and relatives are reading this, I have some pleasant news for them. Col. Kearin pointed Mory out to me, saying:

"Look at that soldier. He's neat and crisp and efficient. I have been watching him since the outfit pulled in here last Saturday. He's a damned good soldier." That is high praise from a professional soldier whose principal job at present is to find fault and look for weakness and inefficiency.

He won't find it in the 2nd. Despite an extremely difficult move last night in the darkness, the tearing down of tents, systems, and organization for a surprise pull-out in nearly inky blackness, they were in good order when I arrived.

Dignity and Pride

First Sgt. Jack Zuelzke of Appleton, an impressive looking soldier and a fine noncommissioned officer, showed me around the camp with dignity and pride.

And, though harassed by a multitude of problems born of the sudden midnight pull-back, the commanding officer, Capt. Edward Wulgaert of Kaukauna could offer a "bon mot" to the general.

Standing stiffly at attention but keeping a faint smile on his face, Capt. Wulgaert made an announcement.

"The men had a hard time finishing their coffee this morning," he said.

"Was the coffee bad?" the general asked solicitously.

Expect Attack

Tonight, we have been told by our intelligence officers, we may expect an attack by the "aggressor forces" who are really friends in the guise of the enemy. "Keep your gas masks ready and nearby," we are told because we are almost certain to suffer an attack with CS gas."

CS gas is not seriously harmful, but it clings to an area and causes acute distress, much as tear gas — but worse. It may cause vomiting, and other unpleasant things. It is a great humbler.

And tonight, I have now been told, Sgt. Christoferson may have an unusual amount of trouble finding his gas mask—which is hidden.

Goldwater Hit for His Stand Against Civil Rights Bill

Scranton Says Decision Will Result in Senator's Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's decision to vote against the civil rights bill has triggered a warning from Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton that it means the senator would be unable to defeat President Johnson next November.

But a Southern Democrat, Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, says that if Goldwater, front-runner for the GOP nomination, votes against the measure, he could carry the South against the President.

Their reactions came shortly after Goldwater had told the Senate late Thursday he is "unalterably opposed to discrimination of any sort" but is opposed to the bill because two sections of it "fly in the face of the Constitution."

Criticizes 2 Sections

He said he feels these two sections — the public accommodations and equal employment titles — are a threat to individual freedoms.

Goldwater is known to feel that the reaction to his decision might knock out of his column some of his Republican National Convention delegates.

But the Arizona senator insisted Thursday he had voted as a matter of principle, not of political expediency.

Scranton's Comment

Large Senate Margin Seen For Civil Rights

House Ready to Act Quickly After Receiving Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ending its long historic debate, the Senate is expected to pass the civil rights bill by nightfall today.

The House is poised to start action on it immediately so that it can be in President Johnson's hands by July 4.

Senate leaders said a survey showed about four hours of speeches are left and estimated this would mean final passage by 6 p.m.

All 100 senators are expected to be on hand, including ailing Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. It was predicted that 75 or more would vote for passage.

House Ready to Act

"I'm hoping for 77 or 78," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager.

The leaders obtained 71 votes to impose the debate-limiting cloture last week. But some of the 29 senators who were against cloture have announced they will be in the "aye" column today.

The House scheduled a session today so it could be ready to receive the bill back from the Senate as soon as the vote is taken.

House leaders said they even

Offer of Truce Is Turned Down By Negro Leaders

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) —Negro integration leaders, rejecting an offer of a truce on the heels of renewed racial violence, said they would offer their own truce terms today.

However, the white population, angered by an attempt of Negroes to integrate a plush white motel swimming pool, indicated they might not be willing to listen.

"We will make a counter-proposal," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., after rejecting the special session grand jury presentment Thursday calling for a 30-day truce.

State Sen. Verle Pope, a spokesman for the businessmen's group, said the demonstrations Wednesday night and Thursday indicate a lack of good faith among the integrationists.

"The people of St. Augustine will never yield to stipulations set forth by outside groups," he said.

Output of Kennedy Halves Is Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury sources said Thursday that the Mint has doubled production of Kennedy half dollars in the past few months. By June 30, 90 million of the coins bearing the likeness of the late President will have been minted—the amount originally planned for the entire year.

New Quake at Niigata Brings Added Damage

City Rocked Just As Firemen Start to Control Oil Flames

NIIGATA, Japan (AP)—Another earthquake rocked this northern port city tonight as it struggled with the aftermath of Tuesday's quake—Japan's most violent in 40 years.

Buildings already weakened on Tuesday suffered damage. But there were no immediate reports of new deaths or injuries.

The central, 3rd graf 131-139

The Central Meteorological Agency said the new quake, centered in the Sea of Japan off Niigata, struck the port on the northwest coast with a force of 3 on the Japanese scale, which has a maximum of 7.

Tuesday's disastrous quake which spread death and destruction over 200 miles of Japan's north west coast, was rated at 5.

Still Fighting Fire

The new quake hit as Niigata firemen were bringing under control a raging oil fire, set ablaze by the earlier tremor.

U.S. Air Force planes parachuted another 14 tons of fire fighting chemical foam to Niigata's weary firemen at dusk. A pilot said a block-square storage tank complex on the waterfront was still burning fiercely, shooting flames 300 to 400 feet into the air, as his plane made a pass over the stricken city.

A few minutes before the new quake, Niigata's fire chief said the fire was being contained in the ocean-front refinery area where more than 90 storage tanks went up in flames after Tuesday's quake.

The quake ripped across an 11 - prefecture area, killing a known total of 25, injuring more than 400, and leaving thousands homeless.

North Katanga's Capital Reported In Hands of Reds

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Albertville, capital of North Katanga on the shores of Lake Tanganyika, is believed to have fallen to antigovernment rebels, messages reaching Leopoldville said today.

One airline pilot reported the city's airfield was thick with armed men and truckloads of rebels were reported heading toward the town from the north.

Messages from Albertville qand Elisabethville said the former city's European population of about 200 was in a state of panic. A number of whites escaped from Albertville Thursday night aboard a lake steamer, these messages said.

Radio messages from the city gave a confused picture. It was not known whether there had been any fighting between the rebels and Congolese soldiers.

A U.S. Embassy official said the U.S. consul in Elisabethville, Jonathan Dean, flew to Albertville this morning and was able to land, but later radioed he was unable to leave the airport.

Lightning Kills Soldier At Camp in Minnesota

CAMP RIPLEY, Minn. (AP) —Pfc. Gordon H. Limberg, 26, of rural Glenbeulah, Wis., was killed by lightning Thursday at Camp Ripley, Minn., where he had been assigned for field training with Minnesota's National Guard.

Three other soldiers were burned slightly but returned to their units after first aid treatment.

Limberg was at a field observation post 23 miles north of camp headquarters when a lightning bolt struck a telephone installation. He was the son of Conrad Limberg of the Sheboygan County community of Glenbeulah.

8 Saved From 100-Foot Deep Tunnel in South Milwaukee

Smoke Endangers Workmen Quarter Mile From Shaft

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An electrical fire in a 100-foot deep sewer tunnel Thursday night cut off eight men who were working under pressure about a quarter of a mile from the shaft. All escaped without serious injury.

All of the men were freed within 40 minutes and seven of them were treated for smoke inhalation at Trinity Hospital in Cudahy and released.

The other worker did not require hospital treatment after the men were helped from the shaft in a thinly populated section of South Milwaukee.

Pressure Delays Exit

One of the men, Leonard Prophet, 40, said, "We got a call from the top saying help was on the way in five or ten minutes. It seemed like 30 minutes before they came. The smoke was getting thicker.

"We were a quarter of a mile back in the tunnel. We left before the firemen brought the masks for the men. The exit of the workers was delayed because they had been working under 18 to 20 pounds of pressure and had to go through decompression on the way out to prevent the bends, the development of bubbles in the blood stream resulting from the sudden lowering of pressure.

Sgt. Hoyle Green of the South Milwaukee Police Department said the fire started in a battery cable and spread to one of the batteries which exploded. The batteries powered earth moving carts in the tunnel.

The fire burned for several hours as firemen battling the blaze were restricted by the limited oxygen supply in their face masks.

The tunnel is part of the extension of a metropolitan sewer system. Last year, the State Industrial Commission questioned the safety of the project. In September, a commission told Circuit Judge Robert W. Landry the development no longer was a threat to workers or houses in the neighborhood.

The work is being done by the Santucci Construction Co. of Skokie, Ill.

Search Area Near Arctic Circle for Geologists, Flier

YELLOWKNIFE, N. W. T. (AP)—A search for two United States geologists and their Canadian pilot is concentrated in an area around Sawmill Bay on Great Bear Lake, only a few miles south of the Arctic Circle.

Missing since June 9 when they took off in a single-engine, ski-equipped plane are Albert Kunes of Prentice, Wis., and Douglas Torp of Duluth, Minn., both in their mid-20s, and pilot Chuck McAvoy of Yellowknife.

Kunes and Torp are employes of the Roberts Mining Co., of Minnesota. They had taken off from Yellowknife to tour summer exploration bases.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that reports that the missing plane had been sighted by groups of Indians continued to arrive Thursday. Several of the reports told of seeing the plane at Hottah Lake, about 40 miles southeast of Great Bear Lake on June 9, the day the flight began.

$9 Billion Increase Expected to Set Debt Limit at $324 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has another urgent piece of business to take up soon after it disposes of the civil rights bill—legislation to raise the national debt ceiling by $9 billion to $324 billion.

The House passed the legislation 203 to 182 Thursday after a stiff partisan battle. Twenty-eight Democrats crossed over, while no Republican backed the debt limit boost, which would apply through June 30, 1965.

Unless the Senate acts by July 1, the debt limit will drop automatically to $285 billion, well below the actual debt. Prompt action is expected.

If Congress fails to act, the Treasury would be forced to halt all borrowing immediately and probably would have to default on some of its obligations within two weeks.

Ex-Chief at Sheboygan Facing Perjury Trial

SHEBOYGAN (AP)— Former Police Chief Steen W. Heimke has been ordered to trial on a charge of perjury growing out of a hearing into his conduct in office.

Heimke, who was discharged as chief following the hearings late last summer, appeared Thursday before Sheboygan County Judge J.W. Wilkus who ordered him bound over to Branch 2 of County Court for trial. No trial date was set and he was released without bond.

Pavilion at World Fair Is Dedicated

NEW YORK (AP) — America's Dairyland had its day at the New York World's Fair Thursday when the Wisconsin pavilion was formally dedicated by a party of 40 headed by Lt. Gov. Jack B. Olson.

Olson noted that private investors had paid for the Wisconsin pavilion, toured by about 25,000 persons Thursday, and emphasized that it had not cost the taxpayers a cent.

The official party, which included Alice in Dairyland—Beth Bartosh of Burlington—had lunch at the pavilion restaurant.

The fair president, Robert Moses, presented Olson with two silver medallions at ceremonies in the United States pavilion. One was for the lieutenant governor and the second for Gov. John W. Reynolds, who was unable to attend.

The State of Wisconsin gave Moses an onyx and silver desk set.

Moses reminded that his wife is from Wisconsin and that he had many relatives from the state, including the late Frank Lloyd Wright.

Party Works For Accord On Platform

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democratic state convention delegates, their sales tax repeal yell muffled, turned today to fashioning an election year platform with emphasis on a liberal civil rights position.

In about a dozen meeting rooms, subcommittees pounded out in open debate the finished drafts of their contributions to the document that will form the base for 1964 campaigning.

Primary attention focused on the party objectives in the area of human rights. And arguments notwithstanding, those in authority predicted the plank finally adopted would be an all-inclusive and far-reaching one.

Assemblyman Norman C. Anderson of Madison, the platform chairman, said such a position has been dictated by Gov. John W. Reynolds. "The governor has a religious feeling about this subject," said Anderson.

Expects Criticism

David Fries of Watertown, who heads the human rights subcommittees has said he expects his group "to come under fire" for its "extremely strong position."

The draft Fries' group has advanced pledges party support to a drive for equal opportunity in education, housing and employment.

"To insure these rights," the proposed plank reads, "we favor legislation to strengthen the equal accommodations law, extending non-discrimination to all business and professional places serving the public, a housing law to assure all citizens equal opportunity to rent or purchase private and public housing and extension of non-discrimination in contracts for state works to include contracts with local units of government."

Oppose General Sales

On state finances, platform drafters have dropped the selective sales tax approach that Reynolds stressed in his successful campaign two years ago. But the party's opposition to a general sales tax is re-

Some Surprises Hinted

Warren Probers, to Report by June 30 on Assassination Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hearings ar eover and the findings due within a fortnight, but the Warren commission kept its door ajar today for any belated disclosures on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

If the presidential body headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren meets its timetable, the public will know by June 30 all that the investigative resources of the government could uncover on the Dallas tragedy of last Nov. 22.

500-Page Report

President Johnson will receive a report totaling more than 500 pages, supported by transcripts of testimony which are said to rival in bulk the findings of the Pearl Harbor Commission after World War II.

There may be some surprises, commission sources have hinted. But there is no indication that the seven-month investigation has turned up any disclosures casting serious doubt on the FBI's original basic conclusions.

The FBI's report remains secret still, but it is known to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, the embittered ex - Marine marksman, conceived the slaying and executed it alone. Two days after the assassination, Oswald was shot to death in the Dallas jail by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

It was learned, however, that the commission stands ready to receive any last-minute information offered and may itself recall witnesses if members find any points which need clarifying during the writing of the report.

In addition, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has predicted that investigations will continue "for years to come," even though the life of the Warren commission expires with the filing of its report.

The last of more than 400 witnesses was James J. Rowley, Chief of the U.S. Secret Service. He answered questions for 3½ hours Thursday. On leaving he revealed only that the atmosphere inside was "very pleasant."

Rowley has made no public statement whatsoever on the shooting which ended the life of the young President who personally picked him for his job.

It was believed that the commission, have already quizzed dozens of Rowley's agents and ballistics experts, asked the chief questions which went considerably beyond the adequacy of the precautions taken in Dallas and the behavior of the agents before, during and after the shooting.

May Propose Changes

Warren has indicated it is his view that the commission's assignment includes discretionary power to propose any changes or improvements it considers needed in the procedures for protecting the President and his family.

The key testimony linking Oswald to the crime apparently was that of his Soviet-born widow, Marina, who was questioned for four consecutive days in February through an interpreter, and was called back again last week.

Order Halt to Plamann Park Road Project

Grand Chute Board Takes Action After Hearing Protests

Construction of an access road being built through the south end of Plamann Park was ordered to a temporary halt Tuesday after the Grand Chute Town Board heard objections to the project.

The road is being built west from Apple Creek Road to property owned by Mary Lecker and Mrs. Henry Vermeeren, daughters of Grand Chute Town Chairman Arthur Lecker. The road, which has 66 feet of right-of-way, is 742 feet long.

Permission for constructing the road was given to the town by the Outagamie County Board at its April meeting. The county granted the town an easement to build the road through the park after hearing Lecker explain the road would be beneficial to the park itself and to people who would be using that section of the park.

Construction of the road, which crosses a deep ravine in the park, began last Thursday.

Town residents objecting to the road said they knew nothing about it until construction was started.

Mrs. Ralph Plamann, widow of the man who donated the land to the county for the park, said her husband specified when he donated the land that no roads could be built through the park to private property.

Whether construction of the disputed road is resumed will hinge on Outagamie County Board action. The town board passed a resolution asking the county board to hear objectors' protests and to reconsider its action at the July 14 meeting when it granted the town an easement on park land for the road.

Road construction costs are being paid by the Lecker family but when the road is completed it was to have become part of the town road system.

Sherwood Group Protests Blasting

15 Villagers Claim 'Excessive Dynamite Use' at Sell Quarry

SHERWOOD — What they termed "excessive dynamite blasting" at a quarry just west of the village, was criticized Wednesday by 15 residents during a meeting with the Harrison town board.

The group requested the meeting in an attempt to control the situation which they said has caused "vibrations, damage and shock for about five years."

Robert B. Hamilon, Green Bay, assailed representatives of Atlas Chemical Industries, Wilmington, Del., who are in charge of blasting for Sell Brothers, Stockbridge, at the Lettler Brothers quarry.

He presented figures showing the depths of holes drilled and the amount of dynamite and ammonium nitrate used in each blast.

64 Holes Blasted

Five blasts have taken place this month, he said. He said on June 10 there were 64 holes blasted, each 30-feet deep, requring 3,584 pounds of dynamite. They took place over seven delayed periods, several people complained.

Each hole contained about 35 to 40 pounds of ammonium nitrate, commonly called fertilizer.

Residents complained that although technically there were delay periods, time involved for the entire blast amounted to only a quarter of a second, making it appear almost instantaneous.

One woman appearing at the meeting, said during a June 10 blast a four by eight foot piece of plaster dropped from her living room ceiling, and the rest of the plaster became loose.

Others said cupboard doors swung open, plaster was cracked and furniture moved. They also said they felt the numerous wells being redrilled in the village were the result of continued blasting.

Water Colored

Drinking water has become green and colored since the recent blasts, they said.

Hamilton said he had been a blaster for 28 years, and had never before appeared at such a meeting. He said he could understand the villagers' feelings, and wanted to cooperate with them and the town board.

Residents said they did not want to delay the project or stop the blasting, but wanted it to be reasonable.

The quarry produces crushed rock, used by the Town of Harrison, neighboring townships and private buyers.

Members of the town board have asked Sell Brothers to cut down on the blast every year.

Hamilton said this was the first time it had been brought to his attention. He clarified by explaining that several other companies are engaged from time to time by Sell Brothers.

Clarence Mueller questioned whether, in view of the situation, the town board should set up an ordinance limiting the amount of dynamite to be used at one time, since other companies were blasting.

Supervisor Carl Grassl said he felt the companies wanted to cooperate and an ordinance was not necessary.

It was decided that a series of test blasts be conducted using less dynamite and longer delay periods.

Residents said the blast Wednesday when about a ton of dynamite was used in 36 holes over nine periods, was reasonable.

Hamilton and Harry Sell said that the villagers will be notified when they will blast again and they should report their opinions to the town board.

Sell said the next blast will probably be Saturday or Monday.

Preliminary Miss Wisconsin Trophies Given

First Swim Suit, Talent Competition Conducted Thursday

OSHKOSH—Eighteen - year-old Angela Gina Baldi, Miss North Shore, and twenty-year-old Joan Fillar, Miss Milwaukee, walked off with preliminary swim suit and talent competition trophies Thursday evening in the Miss Wisconsin pageant at Oshkosh High School-Civic Auditorium.

Miss North Shore was a member of the Allegro Group that competed in the evening gown and swim suit contests, while Miss Milwaukee was a part of the Andante Group which presented talent numbers for the first of the three pageant productions.

The 5-6, 118 - pound Miss Milwaukee combined lyrical ballet and character dancing in her presentation of the "Bonnie Jean Ballet" from "Brigadoon." She danced to a variety of tempos.

Miss North Shore, 5-2, 102 pounds, will give her talent number in tonight's show. She will play a piano solo entitled "Premiere Ballade." Miss Milwaukee will compete in the swim suit and evening gown events tonight.

Almost 3 Hours

The first night's festivities, before a near-capacity crowd, ran close to three hours. Master of ceremonies was Bernie Wayne, composer of such song hits as "Blue Velvet," "Laughing on the Outside, Crying on the Inside," "Little Red, Rented Rowboat" and "There She is, Miss America." Wayne sang a number of his songs accompanied by the lovely court of honor; the Misses Sylvia Frees, Joan Peterson, Sue Furger and Mary Ellen Forcier. All four girls are former competitors in the Miss Wisconsin pageant.

Special guest of honor, who arrived just 15 minutes before the pageant got underway, Miss Minnesota of 1964, Barbara Haselburg, performed the three Hawaiian dances she presented in the Minnesota competition. The talented lass was a loser the first time she entered her state pageant, but she came back to win the crown.

Other participants in the opening show were the Miss Wisconsin usherettes, the Oshkosh High School pep band and a six-year-old blonde charmer named Kathy Busha, who worked with Wayne in the number "You're a Very Special Girl."

In tonight's production, which begins at 8 p.m., the Misses Appleton, Bayland, Kenosha, Manitowoc, Milwaukee, Omro, Portage, Racine, Ripon, Two Rivers, Waukesha and Wausau will compete in the evening gown and swim suit events. Kimberly Man Named to State Education Unit

Harold Wentzel to Represent School Boards on Committee

A Kimberly educator will represent the Wisconsin Association of School Boards on the newly created Co-operative Educational Service Agency which will take over responsibilities of county school superintendents March 1, 1965.

Harold Wentzel, president of the Kimberly Board of Education and the WASB, has been named to the agency as it begins work on a plan that will incorporate all Wisconsin public school districts into service agencies.

These service agencies have been created by the state as a "convenience" for local districts in cooperatively providing special educational services between them and the state superintendent of schools.

25 Service Areas

Not more than 25 service areas may be created. Each will include more than one county and will not divide any school districts. Planning for the areas is to be completed by Dec. 1.

The special education services will be provided for teachers, students, school boards, administrators and others. They may include programs such as research, special student classes, data collection, processing and dissemination and inservice programs.

An exact date for the first meeting of the planning committee has not been set, but it is expected to be sometime before Aug. 10.

Committee Members

In addition to Wentzel, the committee will include the State Superintendent of Public Schools as chairman, a non-voting member from the State Department of Public Instruction as secretary, four legislative education committee members, a private citizen appointed by the governor, representatives from five state educational organizations, three members representing local governments and one faculty member each from the University of Wisconsin and Wisconsin State College system.

The planning committee will operate through 1966.

Wentzel also is chairman of WASB's recently formed committee which will study finance and budget practices among Wisconsin school boards.

Valley Planning Unit Discusses Cooperation

Intercommunity Problems Reviewed by Regional Commission and Local Leaders

Problems of intercommunity cooperation and maintenance of local units of government were reviewed Wednesday by Fox Valley civic and political leaders at a meeting of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Commission members heard Jacob Beuscher, professor of law in the University of Wisconsin, describe the adequacies and inadequacies of state legislation concerning cooperative intercommunity development.

Beuscher also discussed possible new legislation. The commission is pressing for passage of a bill which would allow local communities to cooperate more extensively in regional projects and problems.

Meet June 26

The meeting was called because the Urban Problems Committee of the State Legislature will meet in the Outagamie County Courthouse on June 26 to hear and review problems and proposals of member communities of the commission.

Civic and political leaders from the Valley are scheduled to testify before the committee on conditions and problems of the Fox Valley region at the hearing.

The law professor commended the commission for its efforts in establishing the first cooperative regional planning unit in the state.

"This is a unique thing you have done here," he said, adding that the Fox Valley commission was "farther along than the other regions."

The great challenge to the region and to state legislators, he said, is how to properly handle intercommunity and metropolitan problems and still maintain local units of government.

What the commission wished to do, Beuscher said, was neither new nor revolutionary because there "have been special service districts overlapping political boundaries since the days of our great - grandfathers," when drainage districts were established.

One of the improvements over legislation for drainage districts 100 years ago is that new legislation has provided for "grass roots" control by local people, he said.

Ambulance Not Negligent, Jury Decides

$47,000 Damage Suit Ruled in Favor Of Lawrence Seidl

An Appleton ambulance service owner and his insurance carrier Tuesday were absolved of negligence in a $47,000 auto damage suit brought against them in Circuit Court by a Two Rivers truck driver.

The 12-man jury deliberated about two hours before deciding Lawrence Seidl, owner of Larry's Ambulance Service, 116 S. Weimer St., was not negligent June 7, 1961, when a truck rolled over on U. S. 10 near Appleton's south city limits.

The truck driver, Kenneth Kumbalek, 24, claimed in his suit he was forced from the roadway by an ambulance behind him which was flashing red lights. As Kumbalek went on the shoulder to allow the ambulance to pass, he stated, the heavy oil truck turned over. Kumbalek was injured in the incident. He and the truck firm's insurance carrier were seeking damages up to $47,000.

Driver Negligent

In deciding in favor of Seidl, the jury ruled that Kumbalek was 100 per cent negligent in the operation of his truck.

The incident occurred after ambulances from Larry's Ambulance Service and Lindy's Ambulance Service had been sent to a two-car accident at Midway Road and U. S. 10.

Kumbalek testified he had assisted at the accident scene and, after the ambulances were gone, he drove his truck through the accident area and was driving north toward Appleton.

He said he then saw another ambulance driving north behind him and pulled over. Kumbalek said in his complaint that the ambulance that passed him, which he described as owned by Larry's Ambulance Service, was not carrying a passenger from the accident.

Seidl testified he was not in Appleton at the time of the incident but he was identified as being at the St. Elizabeth Hospital after the accident by Harold Linzmeyer, owner of Lindy's Ambulance Service.

New London Youth on Mock Supreme Court

RIPON—Richard Finger of New London was the lone Fox Valley area survivor in balloting for state offices Thursday at the Badger Boys State convention on the Ripon College campus. Finger was elected associate justice of the supreme court.

In the main election of the day, David Marth of Wausau was elected governor, defeating Thomas Fleik of La Crosse, 597 to 331.

RIPON (AP)—David Marth of Wausau was elected governor of Badger Boys State Thursday, defeating Thomas Fleik of La Crosse 597 to 331.

Marth, the American Legion's national champion orator, led the Federalist ticket, which won four of the six offices.

The two Nationalists to win were twins Thomas and Richard De Mark of Racine who were selected as lieutenant governor and treasurer, respectively.

James Birnbaum of La Crosse was elected secretary of state, Charles Hastings, also of La Crosse, was named attorney general, and John Sabaka of River Falls won the superintendent of public instruction post.

The 125 piece Badger Boys State Band led delegates in a parade through Ripon Thursday night. Joining in the parade was Gov. John W. Reynolds and Barbara Bjoraker of Monona who was elected governor of Badger Girls State at Madison Wednesday.

At a post-parade assembly, the Governor told the delegates that partisan politics was the exercise that keeps a democracy healthy.

"Without the political process that you are learing so much about this week, government would not be as responsive to the people. In order to keep government responsive, we need vigorous political activity that Wisconsin is noted for."

Reynolds said "It keeps governmental leaders in touch with the desires of the people and it keeps the people in touch with the problems of government."

Miss Bjoraker delivered greetings from Girls State.

Classifying Our Roads

In the continuing discussion of the adequacy of the public road system of Wisconsin for known and prospective traffic requirements, there has been too little recognition of the problem of classifying roads for budget and management purposes and only a rare acknowledgement that the system has evolved haphazardly and without defined plan.

There are "town" roads, as everyone knows who has traveled the state even moderately, that carry more traffic, are maintained at a higher level of efficiency and have more importance in the total economic development of the state than some "county" roads and even some "state" trunk highways. Conversely, there are some "state" highways that have less utility and are of a quality inferior to many "county" roads. Yet there has evolved in the popular mind and in popular usage the idea that the "town" roads are necessarily rural and related largely to farm-to-market considerations, that the county roads are of more significance in traffic movement, and that the "state trunk system" is the major carrier.

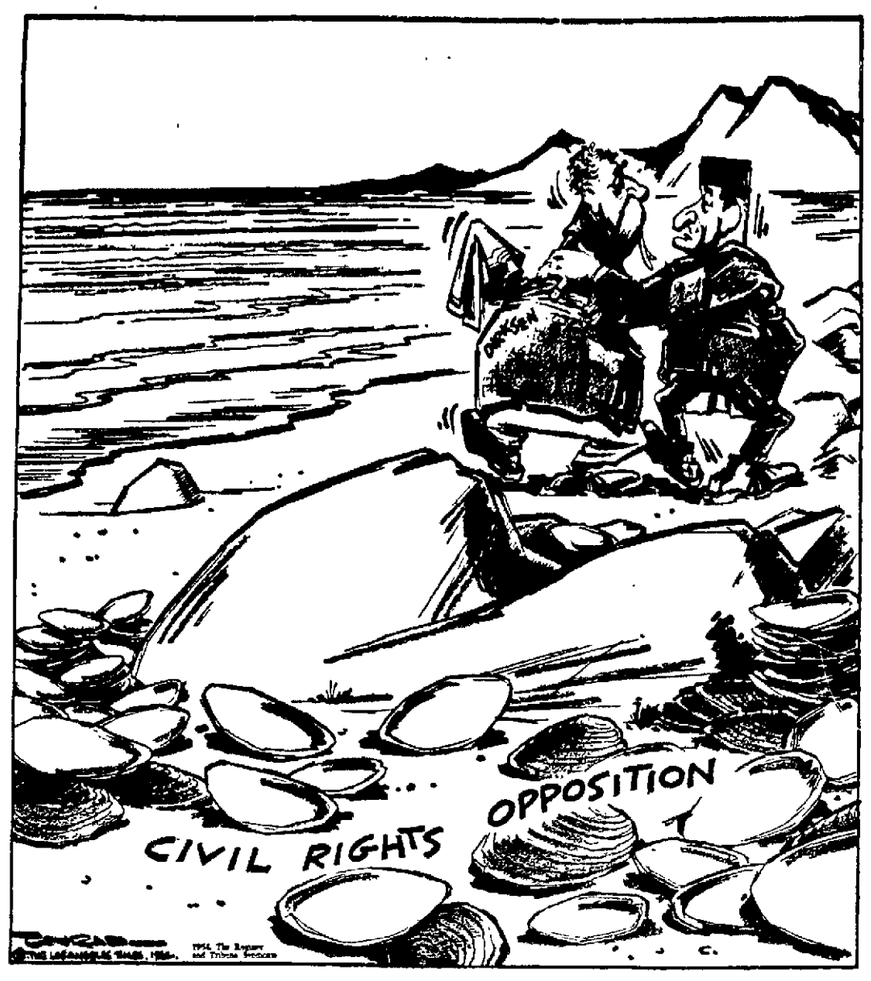

In the aggregate this impression is correct. But increasingly over the years the changing patterns of traffic demand have been accommodated by local governments and the State Highway Department without regard to official classification. Yet the rigidity of the state highway budget and its multi-million dollar appropriations for aids to the local road systems has remained unchanged. One town road gets as much as another.

One mile of "county trunk" highway in Outagamie county is treated in precisely the same manner in the disbursement of the state highway tax dollar as another mile of county road in Polk or Florence County that may carry only a small fraction of the traffic, or may connect two hamlets of insignificant size.

A rural road advisory committee of the Legislative Council's highway study committee has recommended a review of the highway classification system and its adequacy for today's and expected transportation needs.

The members of the committee were apparently concerned that the present system permits inequalities in the distribution of state funds to counties, because in some cases the town road systems are underdeveloped and the county trunk networks over-expanded, and vice versa. The general public is not so concerned about mathematical equity here as in a reasonable assurance that the multi-million dollar highway tax collections are being used with maximum effect in delivering road improvements where they are demonstrably needed. There is no such assurance today. No person and no organization is especially responsible. The rural road systems were evolved on the basis of historical causes that seemed persuasive to the men who held office in earlier decades.

But it is now time to review them for the decades ahead. We hope that this is not merely a gesture, and that Sen. Miller and his committee will have some concrete improvements to submit to the legislature next winter. Without a convincing review of the present system, all proposals for additional highway taxation are likely to be futile.

'Shall We be Trotting Home Again?' But Answer Came There None — and This Was Scarcely Odd, Because They'd Eaten Every One.

Teens on Parade

We take our hats off in respect and admiration to some 57 youths on horseback that passed through the Fox Valley area this week.

Wisconsin Teens on Parade contingent of the Youth for Christ movement has shown without a doubt what teen-agers can do when given a chance.

Adult leaders from Appleton and other areas riding with the youths said adults, when asked to allow the youngsters to remain someplace overnight or for a rest refused, not because of the horses but because they didn't want "a bunch of teen-agers tearing around the place."

If all adults had that attitude our young people could not grow physically, morally or intellectually.

The 300-mile ride from Milwaukee to Rhinelander has proved the skeptics wrong. Here are teen-agers roughing it from city to city, cooking for each other, working with others and nightly putting on talent shows for the enjoyment of young and old.

These youths are courteous, thoughtful and truly aware of the responsibility they have.

God love them! Adults respect them!

Deception, Indeed!

Book titles can be deceptive—but often they are surprisingly accurate.

A case in point is The Strategy of Deception, billed as a "Study in World-Wide Communist Tactics" and published by the New York firm of Farrar, Straus.

A serious and scholarly work prepared by the editors of the New Leader, Strategy appeared last November and was greeted with generally favorable reviews. To date it has sold some 4,000 copies domestically, and the U.S. Information Service has distributed an additional 2,000 copies overseas. The book was even chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club as one of its midsummer "special alternates."

So far, so good.

Then last month, under questioning from Rep. Lipscomb (R-Calif.), USIA admitted that it had secretly spent $14,952 to have the manuscript developed. The agency paid the money to the editors of the New Leader, who in turn submitted the book to the publisher for consideration—apparently without mentioning the government's involvement.

"Neither the copies being distributed overseas nor (the) several thousand already sold in this country indicate in any way that a government subsidy financed the book's preparation," reported the Washington Bureau of the New York Times.

And Roger Straus, president of the publishing company, denied knowing that government money was anywhere involved in the project. He declared the book was accepted entirely on its merits.

David Dempsey, writing in this week's Saturday Review, expresses deep concern about such sub rosa involvement by an agency of government in the private publishing business.

Since The Strategy of Deception is a serious and scholarly work, and certainly nothing to be ashamed of," writes Dempsey, "why did the USIA not bring out its own edition through the Government Printing Office? There are two reasons, and neither of them reflect much credit on the USIA.

"First, the agency was apparently trying to conceal from Congress the fact that funds were being used to subsidize material for domestic distribution. (Authorizing legislation forbids this.) Second, USIA needed the imprimatur of a private publisher in order to play a more effective role overseas. Government-sponsored material is quite naturally, oftentimes suspect as 'propaganda.' "

Even if it is assumed that not a cent of the USIA's expenditure went to the publisher, and that the cash paid to the New Leader's editorial staff was honestly earned, there remains, Dempsey suggests, "a gray area in which the government has breached the good faith of the publisher, and the publisher, in turn, the good faith of its customers. . .

"If The Strategy for Deception did not set a precedent, it does involve a principle. In my opinion, no democratic government should, at any time, for any reason, smuggle information, however valid, through channels which by long tradition have come to be regarded as independent.

"Publishing cannot afford to be compromised, and the people do not deserve to be hoodwinked, even in their own interests . . To gain for democracy the faith of Asians (let us say) at the cost of losing the faith of Americans is a poor bargain."

The House Appropriations Subcommittee would do well to keep these thoughts in mind as it considers USIA's request for $195,000 for "book development" during the coming fiscal year.

Henry Taylor Writes

If Goldwater Isn't Popular Enough, Who's More Popular?

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

The foundation fact confronting all stop-Goldwater movements is that the Arizona Senator is a very popular man.

Taylor

Anyone is free to claim this popularity is misplaced and that Sen. Barry Goldwater should not be popular — a protest widely made against President Kennedy and now against President Johnson. But on that issue itself it's nonsense to contend that Goldwater's lift doesn't come from the grass roots or to whinny about some vague "mainstream" or whatnot.

Popularity is a relative thing, and presumably Goldwater is not as popular as President Johnson. But what Republican is more popular than Senator Goldwater?

Through the California primary, approximately 3,952,500 Republicans voted in primaries—4.5 per cent for Richard Nixon, 5.7 for Gov. William W. Scranton, 7.5 for Henry Cabot Lodge, 29.6 for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and 52.7 for Goldwater. Mainstream?

ROCKY'S MONEY FAILED

If some 600 pre-San Francisco delegates were easy to get, Rockefeller's energy, long-term planning, and the absolutely incredible sums of money he poured into his appeal would have got them. But they didn't.

Even Rockefeller's excesses highlighted a dangerous pattern, for a second time. Personal-nomination spending on any such scale threatens our whole political system and tends to become a monopoly-like influence now with the permanent high-cost of indispensable TV.

We sorely need young and coming men in politics. This requires avoiding a monopoly by sons of very rich — super-super rich parents. They're entitled to spend abundantly, I suppose. But a democratic America cannot permit power to be bought by concentrated money, and at some point a boundless outpouring becomes politically immoral and too much. Who can compete with equivalent campaigns against the sons of the super-super rich? The party doesn't begin to pay the cost until after the nomination.

It's senseless to enter only one primary. You must enter most of them and use costly TV in all. You must be ready to go the whole distance. The Kennedy family spent an estimated $1.2 million for John F. Kennedy's nomination. Rockefeller spent more and for longer. In fact, he poured at least $1.2 into Oregon and California alone. Has anybody any idea what it means for somebody else to face that kind of money?

Gov. George S. Romney? To this writer's personal knowledge, he has turned a deaf ear to kingmakers, and been entirely honest about it, ever since the first day of his election as Governor of Michigan. As an important by-product result, he stands in an excellent position for 1968. But the Republicans are not talking about 1968.

LODGE BOXED IN

Lodge for the nomination? President Johnson's ambassador to beat Johnson? If Lodge came home what could he talk about except South Viet Nam? Except to the wilfully blind, it's always been obvious that Lodge is completely boxed in Saigon. He made his political bed when he went there. In fact, some cynics claim that to box the Republicans is the reason this former Vice Presidential candidate was sent there by the Administration that the Republicans now have to oppose.

Nixon? Early this year this column predicted Nixon's nomination. With the number of stand-pat Goldwater delegates already chosen, Nixon—with his neutrality — had it made if Goldwater couldn't make the grade. But any real future for the experienced Nixon is now hard to see after his sudden assault against Goldwater at the Governors' Conference in Cleveland — the man whose high regard for him and for his neutrality was Nixons sole possibility for the San Francisco nomination.

This leaves Scranton. But where does it leave him and his party? He's undoubtedly a very able man but nevertheless only a one-term Congressman and freshman Governor. There is no discernible nationwide demand whatever for Scranton. Maybe there should be. Maybe there would be, with more seasoning and under different conditions and at another time. But there isn't.

His tardy promoters might as well be talking about a lolloping, lovable kangaroo from the outback country of Australia in comparison to the national prominence and popularity of Lyndon Johnson.

You can't beat somebody with nobody, and if Goldwater can't beat Johnson, who can?

Wants High Speed Chases Called Off

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It's happened again! Another accident was caused by a car being chased at very high speed by the police, this time killing two men. While I do not condone the men for their crime, it is my opinion that state patrolmen or any police should not be allowed to give chase in such a manner so as to cause an accident and endanger the lives of many innocent citizens. This is a crime also!

If another auto had been on that ramp then the people in it would have been killed or maimed also and for no good reason. Why can't road blocks be set up effectively, instead of this senseless chasing that has led to so many tragedies? Have these lawmen lost all use of their common sense? It certainly isn't their duty in upholding the law to foolishly endanger lives of the unfortunate people that might be in the way. With all the talk of safety this is a fine example to set! There must be a more safe and sane way to apprehend lawbreakers and it is time more people demand it!

Wisconsin Report

Rothwell Fortunate Choice as Chairman Of Coordinating Body

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The selection of Angus Rothwell, the state superintendent of public instruction, as the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education is a fortuitous stroke for that agency which will play an immensely important role in the development of the higher education policy of the state during the next few years.

Wyngaard

Because of its origin and its purpose as declared by the legislature a decade ago, there has been a tendency to regard the committee as a kind of overseer for the state colleges and the University of Wisconsin only. There has also been some concern among outsiders about the signs that the college - university partnership has been an uneasy one, with their rivalries scarcely concealed and threatening an effective coordination of policy and service.

But the committee actually has a role considerably broader than assigned to it originally, as indicated by the addition to its jurisdiction during the last three years of the vocational schools offering programs beyond the high school, the county teachers' colleges, and by implication at least, responsibility for the possible development of a complementary system of community junior colleges.

NEUTRAL MEMBER

In the state superintendent of public instruction the Coordinating Committee has a new leader who is by definition objectively concerned with the welfare and the performance of the higher education system as a whole. He also has technical qualifications and experience in educational administration superior to those of any of his colleagues. Perhaps most important, in addition, he holds his mandate directly from the people of Wisconsin who will be sending their children to these developing educational programs, on the one hand, and digging more deeply into their purses to pay the tax bills, on the other.

It is sometimes overlooked that the Coordinating Committee is one step removed from popular control and responsibility. Almost all of the members were appointed through political channels. Most of them "knew a governor," as a witty professor once said in describing the origin of judges.

Supt. Rothwell was elected to his office and presumably expects to be, re-elected to it next year. He has a constitutional responsibility to educational welfare in all of its manifold programs, as indicated by the fact that he sits as a member on the separate boards of regents of state colleges, the University of Wisconsin, and the Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

THE VIEW

The superintendent in a statement of his own views, prepared before he could have known that he would be elevated to the chairmanship of the committee, indicated the kind of caution that is expected from a man in his position and the kind of imagination that reflects his comprehensive understanding of the problem tax-supported higher education represents.

He is willing to examine the feasibility of a junior college system, for example, in those areas not now served by any other post-high school service, but he is practical enough to know that the state is not likely to dismantle such programs as are now operating beyond the high school in other areas.

He is aware that the committee will make decisions — assuming their ratification by legislatures and governors of the next few years — that will mark one of the historic turning points in the evolution of the idea of public education in Wisconsin. A blueprint for the next half century is being drawn now. He is also close enough to the practical politics of the situation—and public opinion — to be able to say that there is some public doubt about whether the members of the Coordinating Committee represent the institutional interests from which they sprang, or the public on the whole.

Altogether, the committee has chosen a man who appears to be precisely the right choice among those available.

Strictly Personal

Should Exercise Mind As Well as Muscles

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"When I go to the theater," said the man, as so many have said before him, "I like to relax and enjoy myself; I don't want to have to concentrate or think about anything."

Harris

"Do you happen to play golf?" I asked him. He nodded. "Certainly do; just love that game."

"All right," I said, "suppose the fairways were only 50 feet apart, and the cups were three feet wide, and magnetized around the edges to attract the ball. How would you like to play golf that way?"

"Are you kidding?" he exclaimed. "What fun would that be? I like the challenge of the long drive, and the difficulty in putting. Make the game that easy and nobody but children would want to play it."

"Exactly," I said. "Golf is a form of recreation for the body, but in order to do anything for you, it must put a demand on you. And what feels good after a golf match is having met some of these demands and mastered them, isn't it?"

"Yes, I guess it is," he replied.

"Well, now," I went on, "the theater is a form of recreation for the mind, just as golf is for the body. And what you're asking for is a kind of theater with tiny fairways and magnetized cups."

"How do you mean?" he asked.

"I mean that in order for the muscles of the mind to get stimulated, in order to improve the tone, some demand must be put on them. Sitting back passively and absorbing a play that a child of 12 could easily grasp is the equivalent of playing baby-golf.

"The theater," I continued, "isn't supposed to be a pacifier — it's supposed to be a stimulant. And a stimulant, in the long run, is the only thing that can really relax you — just as a tough golf match makes you feel healthily tired, whereas slopping around all afternoon in an easy chair just makes you sluggish."

"But golf is a contest," he protested. "A play isn't."

"It should be," I said, "and the good ones are. The playwright is offering your mind a challenge. He wants you to try to understand something, to feel something as his characters do, or as he does. All art, in any form, is a dialog between the creator and the audience. You might even say it's a kind of riddle we are asked to solve."

"Why can't the artist solve it and give us the answer?" he asked.

"Because we really don't believe anything we haven't worked out for ourselves. All the true answers come from within our own experience and feelings. The artist is not there to tell us, but to show us. If you asked the golf pro to take your club and swing for you, what would you know about the game, what enjoyment would you really get from it?"

Looking Backward

Drouth Brings Trouble to State

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for June 16, 1864.

One general wail comes in from all parts of the State over the terrible effects of the drouth. Not only has the grain and grass in this County and elsewhere been used up by it, but what fruit was left uninjured by the severe winter is fast going the same way.

A great share of the apples and plums that have blossomed and set in profusion are blasting and dropping from the trees.

Strawberries, which with rain would have been abundant, are drying up and the crop will be poor with few berries this year. All the other fruits will follow in their wake if no rain comes soon.

We heard a production yesterday that hay will be $50 a ton next winter in this City. What is worse, there is likely to be no substitute for grass as there will be neither straw nor corn stalks.

We would suggest that farmers sow corn for fodder when the rains do come.

25 YEARS AGO

Members of the Hortonville Commercial Club working on the 7th annual homecoming at the village park the next day included M. F. Ziehm, club president; Milford Steffer, N. O. Helterhoff, L. F. Mathews, Elmer Graef, Alvin Dobberstein, Wilbur Collar, Carlton Schneider, Elmer Falck and Arnold Borchardt.

Taking part in the one-act ballet sponsored by the Women's Benefit Association at Kaukauna were the following young people: Billie Van Lieshout, Clarence DeBruin, Clifford Kalista, Manda Godfrey, Shirley Beyatch, Donald Woelz, Donna Holschub, Percal Emmermann, Mavis Gorrow, Mary Ellen Noonen, Shirley Champeau, Bernadine and Vivian Boyer, Virginia and Violet Meisel, Patsy DeBolder, Betty Steward, Elaine Ferrige and Marian Bennie.

Mrs. Lloyd Techlin was elected president of the Frank Schroeder family when members held their first reunion at the rural Black Creek home of Gilbert Heiden. Other officers were Mrs. Heiden, vice president; Mrs. Merle Wendt, Appleton, secretary; Miss Beverly Riehl, Appleton, treasurer; the Misses Marilyn Fahr and JoAnn Wendt, both of Appleton, historians.

Mrs. Jess Betters was elected president of the Kimberly Legion Auxiliary. Other officers included Mrs. Richard Van Lanen, Mrs. Floyd Hengel and Mrs. Martin Hanegraf, vice presidents; Mrs. Cletus Dietzler, secretary; Mrs. Adrian DeWindt, treasurer; Mrs. Alois Vanden Boogard, welfare officer; Mrs. Joseph Van Daalwyk, historian; Mrs. William Vanden Oever, ritual officer; Mrs. Peter Ruys, Mrs. Leo Santkuyl and Mrs. Arthur Schnese, trustees.

Fitting Wedding Into Schedule Is Hard Job

Ethel Merman and Ernest Borgnine Will Honeymoon If They Have Time

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This year's most famous June bride will be wearing yellow.

That's the color of the wedding gown Ethel Merman has chosen for her June 26 wedding to Ernest Borghine. The union of the Broadway song belter and the onetime lovelorn Marty, now skipper of "McHale's Navy," is shaping up as one of Hollywood's most notable weddings in years.

The Merm was discussing plans on the set of "The Art of Love," in which she wears six complete outfits of varying hues, including wigs of green, blue, orange, etc. She plays the part of the proprietress of a Parisian body shop: in other words, this is one time she can say "Call Me Madam" and mean it.

"I came out here May 20 to get married, and then this picture came up," she explained. "Ernie said it was too good a part to pass up, so I went ahead. But now I hardly have a minute to take care of the wedding, and what details!"

Fortunately, she already had arranged for her gown in New York.

The bride-to-be also mentioned that the wedding will take place in the garden of Ernie's Beverly Hills home with a reception following at Chasen's. What started as an intimate ceremony has expanded, as with most weddings, the latest count being 200. All of Ernie's McHale's Navy crew are invited — "I know, because I addressed all the envelopes," said Ethel.

Her mother and father are here from New York for the wedding, and they'll be joined by Ethel's daughter, married and the mother of two, and a son, a theater arts major at Carnegie Tech. Honeymoon?

"Gee, I don't know," said Ethel. "I've got to be back at work on the picture the Monday after the wedding. And Ernie has to start his series July 27. We still hope to get to Japan, but I haven't been able to take my shots because I don't want to get a reaction and hold up the picture."

Lou Hazam Sikkim Special Treat to Eyes

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Sikkim is a sparkling little jewel of a kingdom set in the lofty Himalayas between Tibet and India. Most Americans probably had never heard of it until last year when 21-year old Hope Cooke of New York married its crown prince.

Now, courtesy of the magic of television and the talents of NBC's imaginative producer Lou Hazam and his camera - writing team, millions of us know a lot about this tiny, beautiful Buddhist country—its rain forests and orchids, its principal export—cardamon, a fragrant spice—its market places and its royal palace.

The former Miss Cooke is now Sikkim's queen and her husband, Thondup, is its king. They were our guides Wednesday night during an hour's trip around the country. Color cameras made the most of the bold reds of the lamas, the uniforms of the palace guard, the burnished gold of the religious statues and of the magnificent mountain scenery.

Like other Hazam - produced special programs — "The Nile" a camera trip down U.S. Route 1 and a journey on the Orient Express — the program was a treat to the eyes, ears and mind and a reminder of television's potential as a real window on the whole wide world.

TAFFY'S TIPS

By Dolly Martin

HOW A BRA SHOULD FIT

Have confidence in your sales girl She will point out to you exactly how the bra should fit.

Bra touching breastbone; for hard to fit figures, try more supple fabrics, like lace.

Sides flat against the body without wrinkles.

Shoulder straps easy enough to give stretching and moving room without cutting or binding. (Elastic insertions at back of strap assure ease in movement.)

Other reminders when buying that first bra is to be sure the fullest part of bustline is usually midway between the elbow and shoulder so that clothes fit properly and figure is balanced. You might wear, or take along on that first shopping spree, a knitted sweater or jersey blouse and try it on to see if the bra you are selecting gives you the look that's right, a rounded, smooth look, never pointed

Parents' World

Dad's Anti-TV Policy Denies Children Opportunity to Learn

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: I thought I had settled this argument with my wife once and for all. But something you said recently in your column has started it up again. So I'm writing to ask you to give me your reasons for thinking that children should be permitted to watch television a half hour or an entire hour each day.

Dr. Jones

We do not have a television set in our house because I do not approve of it. My children object, of course, but I think they're better off making their own entertainment. In fact, I'm shocked to learn that you—a professionally trained person—would think otherwise.

MR. B. K.

There's no more virtue to a child's making his own entertainment than to his making his own clothes, food, or shelter. I assume you'll let your children read books written by other people. Why not let them watch television? What are you afraid of? It's easy to help your children learn to discriminate about which programs they choose to watch. And like books, magazines, radio, and newspapers, television is a valuable means of learning about a world larger than the family fireside. Don't deny your children this opportunity.

Dear Dr. Jones: My eight-year-old boy lets a five-year-old neighbor kick him in the face. Then my son runs in the house crying because he's hurt. I taught him not to fight, so he says he doesn't know how to make the little boy stop. What should I do?

MRS. P. R.

Don't change your instructions to your son about not fighting. But point out to him that he can't be allowed to play outdoors without your supervision if he can't avoid such troubles. After all, he's probably helping to create trouble, too, or else the younger, smaller boy wouldn't be able to "kick him in the face." That's pretty high up!

There's too much difference in age between the boys for them to play together, so tell your son to tell the younger boy to leave him alone, completely, and to find someone his own age to play with.

Then watch over him outdoors for a few days. At the first sign of trouble from the younger boy, ask your son to move away and to tell him to stop and leave him alone. With the moral support of your presence, your son should have the courage to put an end to the pestering and fighting immediately.

Fireman and Child Die in House Fire

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—An assistant fire chief and a small child died Thursday as the result of a fire in a two-family residence.

David Maling, 48, a veteran member of the Duluth Fire Department, entered the burning duplex and brought out Gretchen Jackson, 30-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson. Maling collapsed in front of the building and died a short time later at a hospital. The baby was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Your Problems

Mother Overcomes Fears of Childbirth by Desire for Child

DEAR ANN: I read the letter from the woman who signed herself "Afraid" and perhaps I can add a word of encouragement.

Landers

As far back as I can remember, I, too, had an absolute terror of childbirth. Whenever I encountered a pregnant woman on the street — even a total stranger — I'd actually break out in a cold sweat I'd visualize the agony and suffering that poor woman would have to face. It almost made me ill.

When I married and became pregnant myself my attitude began to change. My husband was so considerate and kind, and we wanted a child so badly, that I decided no matter how painful it would be worth it Toward the end of my pregnancy my fears disappeared completely. My doctor promised that my husband would be by my side the whole time and this gave me added strength and courage

Well, Ann, my delivery was a breeze. The doctor said it was normal — six hours of labor — and I can truthfully say it was not bad at all. When I think of the years I suffered fearing and dreading the unknown I could kick myself. — Victorious

Dear Victorious: Hooray for you and thanks for a terrific letter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other day while going through an old cedar chest in the attic, I ran across some official looking papers. They turned out to be two divorce decrees. I was shocked to learn that both my mother and my dad had been married before.

I am 16 and my brother is 18. I'm sure my brother doesn't know a thing about the divorces. My questions are: Should I go to my folks and tell them I found the papers and that I am disappointed they kept this from us. Or do you think they were right in saying nothing to my brother and me? Should I tell my brother? I need your advice. — Shock in Little Rock

Dear Shock: Go to your folks and let them know you ran across the divorce decrees in the old cedar chest and that it was a low blow.

I believe it is best for parents to tell their children about previous marriages — or anything else that is a matter of legal record, such as suicides or prison records of relatives. It spares the children the pain of being told by a stranger or worse yet — of stumbling on the facts by accident as you did.

Don't tell your brother what you have learned. Ask your parents to tell him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I realize your column is not a public billboard for petty gripes, but my problem is one which every person within a radius of half a mile of our home would like to have settled.

Every morning a woman who lives down the block, gets picked up for work at about 6:30. The driver of that blue sedan starts honking his horn when he is three blocks away. That miserable horn is not an ordinary automobile horn. It sounds more like a factory whistle.

Often the woman isn't ready on time and that horn keeps blasting away for as long as ten minutes without a let - up. It's enough to drive a person crazy.

My elderly father makes his home with us and he is not well. His sleep is broken up every morning by this ear-splitting racket and I would like to know if we can do anything about it. If so, what? — Exhausted

Dear Ex: There's a law against disturbing the peace. I suggest that tomorrow morning you make it a point to talk to Little Boy Blue and ask him to please stop blowing his horn.

If one request does not put an end to the problem, call the police.

Parents are people — they can be right and they can be wrong. To help understand their viewpoint and to promote harmony at home, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Beware the Danger of Own Trap

Few things in life are more fun than setting a trap for somebody to fall in. Of course if you yourself happen to be the somebody who falls into the trap there is still lots of fun. Only somebody else has it.

West led the king of spades, and South slyly played the deuce This well - known trap, known as the Bath Coup, works beautifully if West continues the suit South then gets two spade tricks instead of only one.

Unfortunately for South, West was a suspicious soul. "If my partner had the jack of spades, he would play it," West thought to himself. "Since he didn't play the jack, he doesn't have it."

The logic was good, and West shifted to the eight of hearts. East put up the jack, and South found himself looking very foolish

Dead Either Way

If South took the first heart the opponents would run the entire heart suit on being given the lead with the king of clubs. If South refused the first heart, East would shift to spades, and then the spades would eventually come in when West got his king of clubs.

Either way South was dead.

South cannot lose the contract if he takes the first trick with the ace of spades. He leads a diamond to dummy's ace and returns the ten of clubs for a finesse. He can bring in dummy's clubs, losing a trick to West's king.

West cannot continue the attack against spades without giving South a second spade trick If West shifts to hearts, South wins with the ace of hearts and takes his tricks on the run: one spade, one heart, four diamonds and four clubs.

South would make his contract even if East had the king of clubs. In that case South would surely make three club tricks by finessing. The six tricks in the other suits would be enough for game

Tile Can be Installed on Drywall

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q. We would like to install an extra shower, if possible, where we now have a large closet. It adjoins the bathroom The closet walls are plasterboard Can this be covered with ceramic tile?

A Yes Ceramic tile can be applied to plasterboard drywall walls. A special adhesive is necessary Your building supplier, or tile dealer can give you complete information as to proper installation, etc Or "How To Lay Ceramic Tile" (50 cents) gives detailed instructions published by Directions Simplified, Inc , Briarcliff Manor, N Y.

Q I have an enameled bedroom set which I would like to refinish in an antique gray. How can I do this?

A Kits for refinishing furniture in various antique effects are available at many paint, hardware and housewares dealers Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully

Or Remove the present enamel with a paint remover, according to label directions Sandwood smooth and wipe off dust. Then apply a coat of gray paint in the desired shade Sandpaper smooth and wipe off all dust Apply a coat of glaze (this is a thin varnish, with a tint of brown, black or some other color). While the glaze is still wet, wipe it off across the wood grain, removing it from flat surfaces but leave traces in the grain, carvings, etc This results in an almost invisible tint on the flat surfaces which shades to deeper tones where most glaze remains Glaze is available at paint dealers, or can be made by thinning varnish with one-fourth turpentine and tinting with color-in-oil

Q How can I overcome efflorescence which forms on the interior walls of the cinder block foundation below ground? A good quality cement-base masonry paint peeled off recently. The manufacturer replaced the paint and gave me some acid also to treat the surface before repainting. Have been told no paint will stay on as long as salt is coming through. Would a sealer be effective before painting? It will not be practical to treat the blocks from the outside.

A Did you rinse off the muriatic-acid-treated surfaces thoroughly, as well as wetting them with water before applying the acid solution? A most important step I assume the cement paints are entirely peeled off. If not, sand off any remaining paint Repeat the muriatic acid treatment (one part acid to 10 parts water), following recommended procedure, and allow wall surfaces to dry thoroughly Then apply clear, masonry waterproofing preparation, available masonry supplies dealers and some large hardware stores Then apply your cement base paint or a latex masonry paint

'Nudest' Thing on Beaches Cause of Varied Opinions

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Its all according to the viewpoint whether the nudest thing in women's swimwear fashion—that topless wonder—is quite an eyeful, just awful, or unlawful Opinions differed sharply this week as Rudi Gernreich's daring design for feminine sunworshippers was bared for buyers across the country after a bracing introduction here a few days earlier.

Some buyers stocked it to keep up with the trend toward overall suntans, an Associated Press survey showed Others snubbed it because the mode did not suit the moral mood of their clientele, or the town.

Lord and Taylor's here canceled an order because the halved bikini is "not in taste conforming to standards of the store"

"That's indecent exposure Why, you'd go to jail," exclaimed a spokesman for Filenes, in Boston

"They'll never sell in Seattle," said a spokesman for Bon Marche in that city.

"I can't see this fashion becoming popular in Michigan for several years—if ever," declared Robert Emmet of Jacobson Shops, Detroit.

"It isn't in keeping with our store image," contended a Jordan Marsh spokesman in Florida.

In many cases the customer who does find a seller will be handled surreptitiously, as though she were buying bootleg booze.

"We will have them for people who ask, but we have absolutely no plans to display them," said Katherine Robinson of B Altman's in New York

If a customer asks for it, we will usher her into a fitting room and show it to her. But please don't quote me," shuddered another New York buyer with 21 of the $24 wool knot trunks on order

Most buyers not buying the not-quite-a-bikini, such as one at Carson Pirie and Scott in Chicago, sniffed at it as "unimportant fashion-wise—a gimmick

"There's always somebody who's going to wear that sort of thing," sighed Miss Diana Gunn, a Dallas school teacher. Macy's buyers in New York agreed but figured somebody else could sell it, even Gimbles. But Gimbels won't either.

Riviera's the Place

A San Francisco buyer has already taken the plunge in one. And actress Pamela Tiffin said she'd go along with the "prevailing mood," like at spots on the Riviera

"But I'd never wear such a revealing suit if I were the only woman in the party so exposed. That would be just plain exhibitionism."

The prevailing mood of the Seattle police department is to arrest immediately the wearer of such a garment on a public beach A test case would have to decide the lawfulness of such a suit on public beaches in Milwaukee, said county Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr.

In Chicago a police official referred the question to the parks department, claiming "we do not set standards for beach attire" But a parks department spokesman passed the buck back by claiming, "we only insist the suits be clean. The morals of the situation is for the police"

A miami Beach ordinance forbids bathing naked or in indecent dress A manager of a private club thought his club members were "too old and decrepit" to wear them.

Some buyers who bypassed the bare bosom bathing suit believe the timing is not right for it, but the day will come, they say, recalling early reaction to the bikini.

Mrs Adeline Muhlenbert, a 75-year-old former swimming champion from Brooklyn, can vouch for changes in attitudes. Once arrested on the beach for being without stockings, she campaigned for the liberation of swimmers from dangerously cumbersome suits Today she says she finds herself the most overdressed woman on the beach

Questions On Sewing

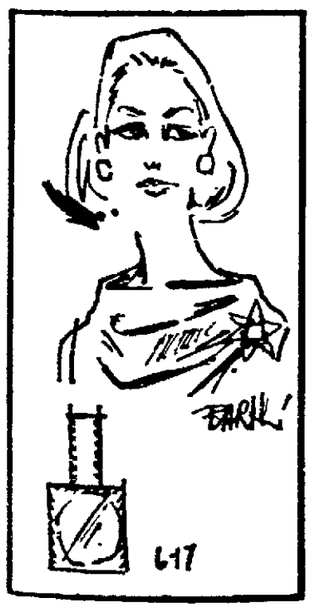

If you wonder why some ready - made clothes are so expensive, examine them carefully and you'll notice extra little details on the garments that take a great deal of work. This partly accounts for the higher cost.

Q I love dresses with high - draped or cowl necklines. When I make them of shantung or similar crisp materials the folds stick out instead of draping softly. What should I do? — MRS. L. McC.

A Better dress manufacturers use this little trick: Take a strip of ribbon or bias seam binding about three - inches long. Buy a weight the size of a penny, or use a penny, and cover it with fabric. Stitch the covered weight to the end of the binding and tack the binding to the edge of the neck facing The weight is just heavy enough to keep the neckline in place without pulling it down too much, nor will the neckline pop out. (see illustration).

Q I must spend all of my time in a wheel chair and would like to have a costume made that would look as graceful as possible What do you suggest? — MRS M. B.

A Don't break up your colors and trims . your outfit must have a one idea look top and bottom in one color; wear an easy flared skirt but not one that will look too bulky; keep prints very small. Solid colors are preferable. Wear something at the neckline such as a pin, necklace or interesting collar, so that attention will be focused on your face.

Q. Do I buy a pattern size the same as in ready-to-wear? — MISS L. M.

A. No. You must take your body measurements accurately and then check them with the measurements given on pattern envelopes to determine the size.

Q. When a pattern instructs you to "slash" something, do I just cut? — MISS T. O.

A. Yes, a slash is simply a longer cut than a "snip" or "clip."

Q. Do I use a special stitch for edge - stitching? MRS. B.I.

A. No. Just a row of regular machine stitches that are placed very close to the edge of the seam line.

Q. When joining the bodice to the skirt of a dress, should I always top-stitch the seam? — MRS. R B.

A. No. Top - stitch when the stitching will not detract from the design.

Goldwater's Position On Domestic Problems

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, has laid down in words and deeds his views on domestic issues and problems.

What follows is put together from his statements, his books, his positions in the Senate.

Civil Rights—He considered unconstitutional both the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation — while agreeing with its objectives—and any government interference in education.

But he later switched and said it's the government's job to enforce a federal court's edict on desegregation. Thursday night he announced he will vote against the civil rights bill, but said again he opposes segregation.

Free Enterprise

Government Spending — He wants it cut, contends free enterprise would provide all the jobs needed if allowed to work without government interference.

At the same time he is against monopolies by big unions or big business. But to prevent monopolies requires strong federal interference. And there is no truly free enterprise system.

Thre can't be so long as American business wants tariffs to protect it from foreign competition and government subsidies to help it survive Goldwater is vague on ending such subsidies

Federal Aid to Schools—He is particularly against it for elementary and secondary schools, has said: The government has "no right to educate children." the "child has no right to an education."

Aid to Education

But the government has been aiding education in one form or another for more than 100 years. Here Goldwater pre-dates Adam Smith, patron economic saint of American conservatives. Smith said in 1776 in his book, "The Wealth of Nations," a government should help education.

Medical Care for the Aged—He's against the Kennedy-Johnson program to tie such aid to Social Security, saying it "detracts from the responsibility of the family."

Farmers—He said "we should get the farmers back on the law of supply and demand" and suggested phasing out the government's farm program over four years.

Internal Order

Government's Role in American Life—He would narrow it sharply, saying "The legitimate functions of government are actually conducive to freedom, maintaining internal order, keeping foreign foes at bay, administering justice, removing obstacles to the free interchange of goods." There he sounds exactly like Adam Smith

Housing, Public Power and Urban Renewal Programs—He has said the government should withdraw from all of them.

Labor—He is for right-to-work laws, which unions oppose, but has been against the union shop, compulsory arbitration, industrywide bargaining, political activities by unions, broadening the minimum wage

Tennessee Valley Authority—He proposed selling TVA to private industry, later seemed to be saying only part of it should be sold

Social Security—He suggested putting it on a voluntary basis but didn't explain how it could survive that way. Later he said he wants to keep it and strengthen it by making the pension dollar sound.

Welfare Programs—He is particularly antagonistic to these, has said the government should withdraw from them, suggested private charity as a solution, but has been unspecific on precisely what programs should be dropped.

They include aid to needy old people, to the blind and permanently disabled, crippled children, child welfare, and programs to curb juvenile delinquency.

Taxes—He was all for eliminating the graduated income tax. Later he seemed to modify this by saying there should be a tax overhaul.

stated and Reynolds is commended for vetoing such a plan after it was passed by the Republican majorities in the Legislature.

Aside from the platform debate, delegates to the two-day convention in the Milwaukee Auditorium will be limited to arguing over the selection of a national committeewoman.

The contest has narrowed to a race between Mrs. Vel Phillips, the incumbent from Milwaukee, and Mrs. Jeanette Swed of the Milwaukee suburb of Bayside.

Mrs. Janet Lee of Madison, a sister of U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, took herself off the candidate speculation list Thursday and said she would support Mrs. Swed.

Frinzi Files Papers

Still jabbing at the party unity image convention planners hope to preserve are supporters of Dominic H. Frinzi, a Milwaukee attorney, who is challenging Reynolds for nomination to the top office.

Frinzi filed his nomination papers Thursday and declared that they bore more than 4,900 signatures. He told newsmen he had dropped plans to ask for time at the convention rostrum to match an appearance by Reynolds, the keynote speaker at a session tonight. But Frinzi's supporters appeared reluctant to abandon plans to demonstrate for him.

Plans Caravan

Frinzi told 600 cheering backers in a convention eve rally of plans for an ambitious drive for votes. He said he would "embark on a campaign that no other candidate has ever attempted. Starting Tuesday, I will leave in a caravan, not to return until I hit all 72 counties."

In addition to picking a national committeewoman, the delegates will elect a national committeeman to succeed former party chairman Patrick Lucey of Madison, a candidate for lieutenant governor.

David Carley of Madison is unopposed for the post. There is the same lack of opposition for Francis Rondeau of Mosinee and Robert Bittner of Green Bay, who are up for re-election as administrative committee member at-large and party treasurer.

Large Senate Margin Seen For Civil Rights

would meet Saturday if necessary should Senate action come too late.

House Delay Indicated

Southern House members already have announced they will force the bill into the Rules Committee, presided over by veteran Howard W. Smith, D-Va., an opponent of the civil rights bill.

It will take a number of days to pry the bill out of that group if Smith balks at prompt action, and House leaders want the time to begin running as soon as possible.

The Senate has adopted more than 100 amendments to the original version passed by the House 290 to 130 on Feb. 10 but has preserved all its essential elements

29 Senators Speak

House sponsors have said they were willing to accept the Senate changes and Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., voiced confidence the bill would reach the White House before July 4.

Twenty-nine senators took the floor Thursday to make their final statements for or against the bill and, in some instances, to disclose how they would vote on passage.

Water Quality Termed Better

K-C Specialist Tells Teachers of Resource Problems

Special to The Post-Crescent

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—"Water quality generally is better today than it was 10 years ago, and it will be better 10 years from now," Richard Billings, Kimberly-Clark Corp. research specialist, told a group of state educators here Thursday night.

Billings addressed a group of 24 state college and university teachers taking part in a three-day study of the paper industry. Billings spoke in a panel on resource problems.

"An industry which can increase its production by over 100 per cent and, during the same period, reduce its waste products so that the total discharge of wastes is actually less than it was before the increase, has a record to be proud of" he said. The paper industry has such a record

Use of Wastes

"Evidence of the effort required to accomplish this record can be seen in the roadbinder trucks treating gravel and dirt roads, the units evaporating spent sulphite liquor so that it can be processed or burned, the plants where torula yeast is grown on spent liquor, the spray disposal fields where liquid wastes are sprayed over wide areas to allow the vegetation and soil bacteria to break them down in using them as food, and the adhesives and vanillin—to name only a few.

"The cost of pollution abatement is thus recognized by the industry as one of the costs of doing business."

Billings cautioned that "mills built at different stages of the technological development may or may not lend themselves to rebuilding or revamping.

"Each can be improved only a certain amount," he said. "If this amount is not enough, the mill will have to be shut down.

Paper's Value Emphasized by Mill Leader

Henry C. Crandall Says Product's Worth Is Underestimated

Special to Post-Crescent

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Despite low prices, paper has extremely high value and utility, and it is getting better all the time, Henry C. Crandall, vice president in charge of research at Mosinee Paper Mills said here today.

Crandall told a group of 24 state college and university teachers studying the paper industry in Wisconsin that one of the industry's big problems is the idea that its products have low value.

"When the average person thinks about paper, his first thoughts are of newspapers, tissue, milk cartons, etc., whose low cost and ready disposability are among their most important properties," he said.

"Take a newspaper, for example. You read it in the evening and the next day you wrap the garbage in it, or you start a fire in the fireplace with it. Yet that piece of newsprint represents the culmination of literally thousands of man - hours of research, study and engineering.

Earn Degrees

"Few materials around your home have had the attention of as many chemists and biologists and scientists of all kinds — not to mention reporters and editors and printers and pressmen. Many college graduates have earned their degrees by theses on subjects such as the factors influencing the absorption of ink by certain types of cellulose fibers, or a new method for the bleaching of groundwood for newsprint.

"Newsprint, and all other types of readily disposable products, have been carefully and scientifically designed, through the cumulative effort of all those I have mentioned, in order that they will perform the exact function they do, in the most practical and effective and economical way."

The Mosinee research executive said some papers, such as those used for electrical transformer coil insulation, can be durable and long - lasting. He said literally thousands of special papers are made in Wisconsin's 49 pulp and paper mills, with dozens more being developed every day.

Even if it can be improved, it can never be made to perform like the new mill that you would build today, where effluent control and water reuse have been a part of the consideration from the start of the design stage."

Flowers I have known

by CHARLES HOUSE

I know the blue sailor.

The pretty sky-blue flower is a valued vagabond. Long ago it hitchhiked its way to our shores in the earthen ballast which was carried by so many American-bound ships.

The blue sailor loves people, or so it seems. It grows mainly where mankind abounds, along the roadside, the train tracks; in the fallow fields though seldom in the woodlands.

Valued vagabond? Indeed it is! You may know it better as chicory. It is commercially grown for coffee and as an adulterant for coffee. The roots impart a pert, bitter-coffee taste to coffee which is so adored by thousands. They are, of course, dried and ground and roasted before being added to the regular coffee.

During World War I, the United States shipped about two and a half million pounds of it to Europe.

Although chickory is known as the coffee adulterant, not many Americans are aware of the value of its leaves as a pot herb. Europeans blanch it and force it much as we force and blanch celery. Then they make a salad of it. The French call the salad "barbe de capicin."

Although blue sailor is not in bloom as yet, it is admirable in that it comes into flower in July and lasts and lasts and lasts until the first frost.

County Can Pay For Jury Meals

Court Order Needed, State Attorney Tells Lawyer at Chilton

CHILTON — A Chilton attorney's challenge of conflicting law covering the payment of jurors' meals by the county resulted in a ruling that the practice is legal if ordered by the court.

State Atty. General George Thompson, in a ruling handed down Wednesday, listed two possibilities.

"A county can pay a juror only the per diem and mileage provided for in section 255.25 of statutues for actual attendance upon any circuit or county court and cannot pay juror an extra sum for meals."

Thompson followed this point by stating "A county can, however, pay to a vendor the expense of a juror's meals and other necessaries when a court has determined that it is necessary for the administration of justice that the jurors be secluded and in the charge of an officer of the court and so orders both the seclusion and the payment of reasonable expenses.

"If the administration of justice so requires and the court so orders it is immaterial whether the case involved is criminal or civil or whether the jury has reached the point of deliberating its verdict Ordinarily, however, seclusion of a jury is required and ordered only in certain criminal cases and while the jury is deliberating its verdict."

The ruling stemmed from a request by Calumet County Dist. Atty. F. J. Schmieder to clarify two conflicting opinions. One, made in 1932 by the attorney general's office, declared it was illegal for a county to pay for juror's meals.

The other, by the State Supreme Court in 1877, allowed the payment of meals if ordered by the court.

Church Delegates Favor Rights Bill

600 Attending Convention Pass Resolution on Tolerance

Resolutions supporting the passage of the Civil Rights bill, racial tolerance and the principle of the seperation of church and state were passed today with only minor opposition by delegates to the second annual Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ.

The 600 delegates are concluding their three - day convention in Appleton this afternoon.

Commends Senate

In one resolution, the conference commended the United States Senate for its vote in favor of civil rights legislation. It called passage of the bill "historic." The vote was described by conference leaders as "overwhelming" but there were a few votes in the negative.

A second resolution on the same subject also met with small opposition. In it, the conference agreed to urge its churches and members "to be vigilant and active for effective application of the Christian principles of the civil rights act."

It also urged the President of the United States to convene a national conference of state and local civic and religious leaders to insure the "expeditious, thorough and just implementing of the civil rights act principles."

The resolution also indicated the conference's support of fair housing legislation.

In dealing with its own particular interests the conference, in this resolution, called on member churches and related institutions to affirm publicly that their churches were open to all.

It also called on members to pledge their support to fellow church members who have or will participate "in peaceful protest demonstrations against racial discrimination and segregation."

In the resolution dealing with church-state relations, the delegates supported the "principle of free churches in a free political society."

Adding that "we believe that the policy of separation of church and state is good basis for implementing this principle," the resolution stated that the church was opposed to use of public funds or resources to aid elementary or secondary schools other than public.

They, however, did "favor the cooperation of public education systems with private education programs in the form of dismissed time for religious instruction."

New officers of the state conference were consecreated in ceremonies this morning. They are Mrs. Aaron Klug, Menomonee Falls, moderator; the Rev. Melvin Frank, LaCrosse, vice moderator; the Rev. Theodore Crusius, Manitowoc, secretary, and Norman Schowalter, West Bend, treasurer.

Representatives From the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society met in Appleton Thursday to discuss plans for the state convention here in October. Looking over plans are, from left, Dr. Paul Hodges, Appleton, local chairman of the society; Mrs. H. W. Miller, Appleton, state co-chairman; Rufus Wells, Madison, president of the state society; Mrs. Walter J. Brand, Sheboygan, state co-chairman, and H. W. Miller, Appleton, president of the Outagamie County chapter. (Post-Crescent Photo)

2,500 Auditorium Capacity Studied

Cost Estimate to be Prepared For Larger Community Meeting Facility at New High School

The possibility of the auditorium for the proposed new southside Appleton Senior High School seating 2,500 persons instead of 750 is being pursued by city officials.

It was discussed at an informal meeting of public school officials and the common council's advisory committee Thursday night.

It has been estimated the high school will cost more than $4 million.

The building plan submitted to the board of education recently by Architect Raymond LeVee calls for the smaller-sized auditorium.

Estimate Asked

The question had been raised as to whether it should be large enough to accommodate at least 1,500 persons, the same as the auditorium at the Appleton High School, the largest public meeting place in the city.

During the informal meeting it was agreed LeVee would be contacted and asked to prepare an estimate of the added cost if the proposed new school had a 2,500-seat auditorium so it could be used for educational as well as general public purposes.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said he favors the larger auditorium, pointing out that Appleton presently lacks adequate facilities to hold large conventions.

Revision Necessary

LeVee was contacted by Supt. of Schools Royce Kurtz today and indicated he will have estimates prepared in time for a meeting of the school board Monday night.

Should there be full accord between school and city officials on a large auditorium, revision of a portion of the school plan would be required.

The school site is a 30-acre area on Appleton's far southeast side.

If the plan is revised to include a large auditorium, parking space apparently would have to be available for a minimum of 800 cars.

Kaukauna Will Study Proposal To Buy Land

Incinerator Part of Offer on 230 Acres In Town of Buchanan

KAUKAUNA— Offer of land, an incinerator and equipment to the city for $230,500 will be discussed at a special session of the city council at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon called the meeting to review the offer of Richard Lehrer to sell 230 acres of land and an incinerator and its auxiliary equipment.

Members of the planning commission and board of education have been asked to attend the session since they are indirectly involved in the purchase. The land is located in the Town of Buchanan, but is adjacent to Kaukauna and could be annexed.

Much of the acreage proposed for sale is deep ravine land into which ashes from the incinerator are dumped. Lehrer currently is serving Kaukauna, Combined Locks and Kimberly with incineration and dumping service under contract. He also has contracts with private industries

Terms of Sale

Lehrer has offered to sell the entire operation to Kaukauna $30,000 down, balance to be paid at $1,000 per month at 4 per cent interest. The city would also be required to assume contract agreements with the villages. The villages have a 5-year dumping business, through contract with other municipalities, would have to be answered along with questions concerning incinerator operation.

School board officials have been investigating possible future school sites and Bayorgeon wants them to look over the Lehrer property to see if the level land could be used.

Tipsy Driver Forfeits $219

Appleton Man Fails to Answer Traffic Charge

Llewellyn J. McLaughlan, 40, 722 S. Fairview St., Appleton, forfeited bond of $219 in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday when he failed to appear to answer a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Judge Stanley Staidl found McLaughlin guilty and revoked his driver's license one year.

McLaughlan was arrested June 6 on N. Richmond Street by Appleton police. He was examined by a doctor and tested .21 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Menasha Man Given 2½ Years Probation

OSHKOSH — Robert Frank, 29, 501 Second St., Menasha, this morning was placed on probation to the state department of public welfare for two years by County Judge James Sitter who stayed a sentence of up to 2½ years at the state prison at Waupun for attempted statutory rape.

Frank had pleaded guilty earlier of the offense which occurred April 12. One of the probation provisions was that Frank is to move from the community.

City Attorney Must Decide on Ambulance Zoning Action

Appleton Building Inspector Reports on Two Firms to Froehlich

City Atty. Frederick Froehlich has been forwarded reports on alleged zoning code violations by Appleton's two ambulance services and now will have to decide on possible city action.

The reports were forwarded by Building Inspector Charles Magnette on orders from the plan commission and city council.

Operators of Larry's and Lindy's Ambulance services are said to be in violation, operating their businesses in single family residence-zoned areas.

Originally, authorities say, a representative of Lindy's complained that Larry's Service was violating the zoning at 116 S. Weimar St.

Second Check

Then, council records show, Ald. Al C. Fischer (15th) demanded that Lindy's Service, 1825 S. Oneida St., be checked out for a zoning violation. Fischer claimed the firm is not complying.

Magnette inspected the premises of the two ambulance services this week and forwarded his findings to Froehlich.

It is city policy that anyone found to be in violation of zoning codes can apply for rezoning. Unless the request is granted. A violator must relocate in an area zoned for business and commercial.

Magnette's Findings

"The common council on June 3 directed this office and yours to take the necessary action to assure compliance with regulations by ambulance services," Magnette wrote Froehlich.

Commenting on Larry's Ambulance, operated by Lawrence Seidl, Magnette said in part, "The zoning violation is in the fact that 116 S. Weimar is a single family residential zone being used for a business. It is not a lawful non-conforming use because it did not exist before zoning or annexation." He said an ambulance business was not permitted in a residential zone.

With regard to Lindy's, operated by Harold C. Linsmeyer, concluded: "It appears that any violation of zoning ordinance 15.03 can be corrected by eliminating the use of 1825 S. Oneida St. as a business address and having no more than one business vehicle there."

Authorities are awaiting autopsy results in the death of Thomas C. Kersten, 24, 303 W. Fourth St., Kaukauna, who was found dead on Outagamie County Trunk M early Thursday. A car driven by Arthur Luedtke, 18, route 2, Hortonville, went over his body as it was laying in the roadway.

Action on Conduct Charge Against Neenah Man Deferred

OSHKOSH — Sentence for David C Williams, 18, 637 Grove St., Neenah, on a disorderly conduct charge was deferred by County Judge James Sitter until Aug. 19 when Judge Sitter will decide on a no contest plea entered by Williams last Wednesday to a charge of driving on the wrong side of Oak Street Wednesday morning.

Williams pleaded guilty of the disorderly conduct charge Wednesday and sentence had been set for today. He was released without bond until then.

Appleton Man Fined In County Court for Imprudent Driving

Raymond Nagreen, 61, 2024 N. Appleton St., was fined $25 and costs in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 where he pleaded guilty to imprudent driving.

Nagreen was arrested by Appleton police after he struck an arterial sign and a parked car June 10.

Two other motorists in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today pleaded innocent of charges against them and have posted bonds for trial.

Edwin L. Hart Sr., 49, 1742 N. Nickolas St., pleaded innocent of driving while under the influence of alcohol. His trial is Sept. 28. Appleton police arrested him Thursday on E. Wisconsin Avenue.

Harold Otto Jr., 629 S. Story St., pleaded innocent to hit and run driving and will face trial June 25. He posted bond of $50. He is charged with leaving the scene of an accident at College Avenue and Walnut Street on April 27.

Arlyn F. Wollenburg Is Candidate

Oshkosh Man Campaigns in Valley For Democratic Seat in U. S. Senate

Arlyn F. Wollenburg of Oshkosh, "independent Republican" running on the Democratic ticket for United States Senate, centered his campaign on the Fox Cities area today.

Wollenburg

Wollenburg, 42, is a former schoolteacher and administrator and frequent officeseeker. He resides at 527 Amherst St., Oshkosh.

Declaring that he "agreed with Goldwater on some things and Johnson on others", Wollenburg made several personal appearances in Appleton, discussing his political views.

He plans to be in the Kaukauna and New London areas next week.

"Some people think my political career is all washed up," I say it's just beginning."

"Peace, Security and Prosperity" is the theme of Wollenburg's campaign.

In his platform, Wollenburg says he will push for a $2-an-hour minimum wage law. He said the $1.25 per hour minimum wage is all right for a young apprentice, but not a family man or homeowner.

Wollenburg said a man should be able to make a living so his wife does not have to work, making for a better home and family atmosphere. Wollenburg indicated that with many mothers working, it makes for juvenile delinquency, which could lead to national destruction.

Wollenburg said he wanted to "eliminate foolish government spending," cut taxes and put more money in the hands of the masses to spend so business also can prosper.

A native of Brandon (Fond du Lac County), Wollenburg is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, holding an MA in psychology and school administration.

He began his teaching career in Wrightstown in 1946.

Wollenburg served with the infantry in World War II and said he is a disabled, pensioned veteran. He is single.

He previously made unsuccessful bids for the U.S. Senate and state superintendent of schools.

Four Charged With Disorderly Conduct Pay $100 in Fines

Four persons were fined a total of $100 on disorderly conduct charges in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today.

Arthur C. Schuenemann, 19, and Terry L. Lembeke, 19, both of 622 S. State St., were arrested June 13 when they became belligerent with police at a tavern. They were fined $25 each.

Gerald N. Voecks, route 2, Black Creek, forfeited $25 on a charge of fighting with police June 14 at a carnival at Telulah Park.

Norbert C. Fritsch, 27, 1027 W. Packard St., forfeited a bond of $25. He was arrested for prowling around homes on N. Badger Avenue June 14.

Two Bicycles, Auto Figure in Accident

NEENAH — Two bicycles and an auto figured in an accident at 12:25 p.m. Thursday which caused minor injuries to one of the bicycle riders, according to police reports.

John Christofferson, 13, 706 Lincoln St., Neenah, was advised by police to see his family physician after he received a scratch on his back and a bump on his leg in the mishap.

Police said the Christofferson boy and John F. Baur, 13, 436 Beaulieu Road, Neenah, were riding single file north on Oak Street near Franklin Street when the Christofferson boy's bicycle bumped the other one and he fell into a car driven by Rosella Plass, 1500 N. Appleton St., Appleton.

Police Hold Man Suspected in Molestations of Appleton Women

James Clark, 22, Arrested in Manitowoc With Stolen Auto After High-Speed Flight

An Appleton policeman, who is believed to have been mistaken for a woman as he parked his car in his garage after going off duty early Thursday morning has been instrumental in the arrest of a man suspected of molesting three women.

Police today said that James Carl Clark, 22, Appleton, was arrested early this morning by Manitowoc police who stopped and questioned him about a stolen car he was driving. The car had been taken Thursday morning in Appleton.

Clark will be questioned by Appleton detectives in Manitowoc today about the molestations, the stolen car and two forged checks he is suspected of cashing in Appleton.

Parked by Home

It is believed Clark mistook Appleton Patrolman Thomas Goddard for a woman motorist early Thursday morning when Goddard drove to his home after going off duty.

Goddard parked his car in his driveway and was walking to his garage, he said, when he noticed a car parked in front of his home at 123½ S. Outagamie St. Goddard said the man did not get out of his car, but as Goddard walked toward him, the man saw he was a policeman and drove away at high speed.

Moments earlier, Det. Richard Jirschele, on his way home on his bicycle after going off duty, observed a dark car following a car containing two women. Jirschele followed the darkened car after he noticed it had its lights off and appeared to be closely following the car with the women.

Appleton police had been alerted to three molestations in the past month of women who were followed to their homes in the early morning hours, and grabbed as they alighted from their cars in their driveways or garages.

Follows Car

Jirschele questioned the two women after the dark car drove around the women's car and headed south.

Later, the same car was observed by Goddard as it sped from in front of his home. Goddard began following the darkened car in his own car. He notified police headquarters by telephone that the suspect's car had hit a tree in the 500 block of E. Parkway St., and that the suspect had left on foot. Goddard said he chased the car at speeds up to 75 miles an hour before the accident.

Other police and detectives were sent to the scene and searched the abandoned car. Found were several cards which identified Clark as the driver. Found also was a dark, high neck sweater with a diamond pattern which matched the description of one worn by a man who had grabbed a northeast side woman in her garage early Wednesday morning.

Goddard and other police searched the area near the abandoned car for over an hour, but Clark could not be found.

State-Wide Alert

Later police learned that a car had been stolen from the driveway at 224 E. Frances St., near the search area. The car was the same as the one Clark was driving when he was arrested in Manitowoc.

Appleton police sent a statewide alert for Clark's arrest Thursday. He was sought in the Hortonville area Thursday afternoon when it was learned he might be working in a gravel pit near there. Police also questioned a carnival owner near Hortonville to determine if Clark might have been seeking work with the carnival.

Manitowoc police arrested Clark about 3:15 a.m. today after they were alerted to the description of the stolen car Clark was believed to be driving.

Winneconne Man Fined For Road Violation

OSHKOSH — Michael E. Klinkel, 21, 100 Second St., Winneconne, was found guilty by County Judge James Sitter Thursday of passing in the face of approaching traffic and was fined $25 and costs. He had been arrested by county police and had denied the charge.

Rural Kaukauna Youth Complains of Neck Injury After Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — Dennis Huss, 17, route 1, Kaukauna, complained of a neck injury after the vehicle in which he was riding was involved in a two-car accident about 4 p.m. Wednesday on E. Main St.

According to police, James VanDeLeygraaf, 18, route 1, Kaukauna, had stopped on the roadway waiting for a truck to make a left turn when a car driven by Nick Mertes, 69, 312 W. 6th St., Kaukauna, collided with the back end of the stopped car. Huss was a passenger in the VanDeLeygraaf car.

About $700 damage was reported to the two vehicles.

Delay Court Action Against Woman

OSHKOSH — County Judge James Sitter adjourned action to June 26 in the case of Shirley Lorentz, 23, 401 Fifth St., Neenah, who this morning pleaded no contest to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two 11-year-old girls.

Her attorney also moved for dismissal of the charge and Judge Sitter reserved his ruling on that motion until June 26. Two girls who had left their own homes were found May 1 at her home.

Delegates to the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ elected their state officers Thursday during a business session at their second annual meeting in Appleton. Heading the church for the next year will be Norman A. Schowalter, left, West Bend, treasurer: Mrs. Aaron Klug, Menomonee Falls, moderator: the Rev. Melvin Frank, LaCrosse, vice moderator, and the Rev. Theodore P. Crusius, Manitowoc, secretary. The officers were consecrated today. (Post-Crescent Photo)
